Police Seek Chutist Hijacker

Dispatch Wire Services
WOODLAND, Wash.
FBI agents and police fanned out in the Cascade Foothills today searching for the daring hijacker who parachuted into the wilderness with $200,000 ransom.

Authorities held out little hope, however, that the hijacker would be found.

"He's probably long gone," a Clark County, Wash., sheriff's deputy said.

It was the first time an aircraft hijacker had used a parachute to make his escape and it was the largest sum of money an air pirate had ever escaped with in the United States.

The FBI said the search was being concentrated in the Cowlitz-Clark counties area in Southern Washington as a result of information provided by the crew and "strictly conjecture on our part."

SEARCHERS were aided by helicopters and light planes.

Described as a tall, slim man of Latin American appearance in his mid-40s, the hijacker took over the three-engine jetliner as it flew from Portland to Seattle on the last leg of a flight originating in Washington, D.C.

He told a stewardess he had a bomb and that he wanted to go to Mexico. He also demanded four paral chutes and $200,000.

The FBI said he had used, the name D. B. Cooper when he boarded the plane in Portland.

"That's the name he used when he bought his ticket!" an FIB agent said. "But he's p obably no more D.B. doope than I am."

When the parachutes and the cish were delivered to him at Scattle Tacoma International Airport, he allowed the 36 other passengers and two stewardesses to deliark. The pilot, Capt. William Scott, and three other crew members all from the Twin Cities, were order d to remain aboard.

AIR JORNE for a refueling at Reno, the hijacker ordered Scott to fly no higher than 10.000 feet, with flaps and funding gear down to keep the airliner's speed at about 200 miles per hour.

He also directed that the rear exit door of the 727 be left open, with the stairs extended as they would be in taking on or discharging passengers on the ground.

And somewhere between Seattle and Reno he departed. Also gone were the $200,000 and two of the four parachutes he had been given.

In Seattle, Erl Cossey of Seattle Sky Sports said he had packed all four parachutes delivered to the hijacker, including the two military 'chutes provided by o ficials at McChord Air Fore: Base, near Taconic, Wash.

COSSEY, the parachuted expert, said it was delivered to the hijacker by mistake. "They grabbed the first one in sight, not knowing anything about parachutes," Cossey said. "It the training parachute) doesn't usually go off the ground."

He said the other three parachutes were functional.

In Las Vegas, Nev., an FBI special agent said one of the two 'chutes found aboard the 727 when it landed at Reno had been opened, but he said it had not been determined whether it was the unusable training model.

The military 'chutes normally operate with a static line which rips them open almost immediately after the jumper leaves his aircraft. The sports 'chutes permit a free fall until the jumper himself decides to release them.

Officials said three Air Force planes trailed the 727 after it left Seattle, but they refused to say whether a parachute was seen. They did say that a man using a sports parachute in a free fall could easily have been missed.

Don Morrison

A Washington state sheriff's deputy, helping in the manhunt for the parachutist hijacker who bailed out of a Northwest Airlines plane with $200,000 ransom money, said aloud what I'll bet many of us have guiltily said to ourselves:

"You just can't help admiring the guy!"

I wouldn't defend the verb "admire," exactly, but then I don't know just how I'd describe the awed gasp I exhaled when I learned how slick the caper was.

SKY CAPER SOMETHING TO ADMIRE

Now, we could fill the whole column with sternly ringing syllables of disapproval for such criminal and potentially murderous activities. I agree that air piracy is a plague, an outrage and a terrible danger:

In no way am I rooting for this particular hijacker. Yet, since it happened, one can assign points without in any manner condoning what happened. Most airliner hijackers we've read about are loonies.

My strong impression is that the boy who boarded the 727 jet at Portland, Ore., was no loony—or at least an inspired one with the American dream of hustling $200,000 in scratch and getting away with it.

In his credit balance, let's agree he never really endangered anyone (I'm making the assumption that his redicylinder "bomb" was a bluff) and that, while he inconvenienced his fellow passengers more than somewhat, he did put them ashore at Seattle as his first move.

He collected 200 Big Ones as ransom, along with four parachutes, and ordered the driver to head for Mexico. Mexico, ha! Apparently, he hit the silk before the plane had even gotten out of the state — having required of the pilot that he leave the aircraft's back gate open and that he be granted decent privacy to mult on his sins.

All this is grand larceny and in violation of federal laws stipulating a death penalty for violation. The malefactor had dash, but I don't consider him any Robin Hood However, let me ask you how many dozens of Big Heist movies have you enjoyed over the past 10 years? All those imaginative wrongos who have figured out some artistic way to get into the Chase Manhattan Bank's petty cash room or to make off with Bess Truman's priceless collection of moustache cups. The cuter the caper, the better.

This was a very dramaturgical caper, indeed. It may be a pilot for a TV series. A bunch of us at a cocktail party over the weekend, was running up scenarios to comply with the iron law of the movies that no one gets away with a Big Heist and that the cuter the heist the cuter must be the quirk of fate whereby the heister is disappointed of his swag.

Someone started it with the rudimentary idea that our hijacker jumps from the plane with the money and his parachute doesn't open. Too crude. Uncute.

Another was that the guy straps on a parachute and the moneybag, then jumps. He pulls the ripcord, but it is the cord to the moneybag and $200,000 in double-saw-bucks fills the air while he plummets downward saying "On shucks!"

A macabre idea was for him to come down in the forest. His chute snags on a tree and the 20-odd pounds of money, tied round his neck, slowly strangles him:

Naturally, I prefer my plot device. The hijacker a sea soned professional sky-diver gets his rigging all squared lway. He's wearing two parachutes for insurance, he has the money safely strapped of this person.

He exits the aircraft, cooly calculates his free fall and pops the chute perfectly.

He makes a perfect landing—inside the walls of the Washington State Penitentiary.

'EXPERIENCED OR CRAZY'

FBI assesses hijacker

WOODLAND, Wash. (A) — The missing air pirate who bailed out of a Northwest Airlines jetliner carrying a parachute and 24½ pounds of $20 bills was "either an experienced jumper or crazy," the FBI agent coordinating the search for him says.

Officials say they believe the hijacker parachuted from the plane over this sparsely populated area of southwestern Washington, but add that they have found no trace of him in two days of searching.

FBI coordinator Tom Manning said Friday that searchers were working on the premise that the man was an experienced jumper.

"If he is in the area and has landid in rough terrain, it's an educated guess we will get some trace of him," Manning said: "We have to presume at this point he is still alive."

Authorities disclosed Friday that the $200,000 Northwest Airline paid the skyjacker in response to a bomb threat was supplied in $20 bills—a packet of 10,000 bills that weighed 24½ pounds and measured 8 by 6 by 27 inches.

FBI agents told searchers to look for two white parachute canopies and portions of a pink one found open and torn aboard the plane when it landed in Reno, Nev. They also said there might be traces of some crew food rations, which were missing from the plane.

A 100-man posse, aided by 10 patrol cars and six helicopters, famile out Friday in a 5-mile line through the mountain foothills, but Manning said the eight-hour effort under low clouds and misty rain did not yield any useful information.

Crew members at a press conference at the Minneapolis-St. Paul International Airport disclosed Friday some additional details of the incident, which began after the plane took off from Portland, Ores for Seattle, Wash, the last stop one flight that had originated in Washington, D.C.

The man described as calm, middle-aged and well dressed boarded at Portland and gave a stewardess a note shortly after take off.

"I thought he was trying to hustle me," stewardess Florence Shaffner, 23, 1600 E. 77th St., Richfield, said. "I stuffed the note in my purse and he motioned that I should read it."

His note said he had a bomb, officials said, and he indicated he wanted to go to Mexico. While the jet circled Seattle, the man also ordered that $200,000 and four parachutes be brought to the plane in Seattle, and Northwest agreed.

The Air Force disclosed Friday that the pilots of eight chase planes which tailed the jetliner did not see a person leave the plane. Five planes followed the jetliner all the way and three picked it up en route to Reno.

But officials had said earlier that the chase planes would have difficulty spotting a skydiver at night if he did not open his parachute immediately. Hijacker Search 'Over Full Roufe'

WOODLAND, Wash. (UPI) — The FBI said Saturday aircraft would search the entire route from Seattle to Reno for a hijacker who parachuted from an airliner with $200,000 ransom.

Julius Mattson, special agent in charge in Porty land, Ore., said the "whole vector" of the jet-liher's flight would be covered when the weather clears. There is presently a 600-foot visibility ceiling.

The plane's route passed over Portland, Ore., Medford, Ore., and Red Bluff, Calif., before landing in Reno.

Saturday's activity centered around a wooded area near Wood 1 and, Wash., where the FBI believes the man might have njumped with a white bag of inoney Wednesday night.

"We feel he's in this area," FBI agent Thomas Manning said of the three-by-five-mile stretch of rough timber country 35 miles north of Portland. "If we have to, we'll cover every square foot of it."

Drizzling rain and low clouds forced the FBI to call off an afternoon air search of the tiny area where they believe the man might be hiding, possibly with a broken leg.

The hijacker, a swarthy, middle-aged man who called himself "D. B. Cooper," took over a Northwest Airlines 727 with a "bomb" during a flight from Portland

Wednesday.

He forced the plane to land at Seattle, collected four parachutes and $200,000 in $20 bills in a white cloth bag and let the passengers off. Then he ordered the crew to fly him to Reno, Nev.

Somewhere along the way he parachuted into the night from the plane's pen rear door.

Manning said the blane's in-flight recorded showed that at 8:10 p.m., when the plane was over the target area of the search, instruments showed the rear door being lowered.

Three minutes later, he said, a "slight change in altitude" of the plane was recorded, indicating that was the moment of the jump.

SKY-JUMPING hijacker looks something like this composite drawing released Saturday by the FBI. The man they're looking for hijacked a Northwest Airlines jet, collected $200,000 in $20 bills and bailed out somewhere between Portland and Reno Wednesday night.

FIRST PHASE OF HUNT ' FOR HIJACKER DROPPED'

WOODLAND, Wash. (IPI)—The temporary headquarters in the search for a hijacker who parachuted from a jetliner last week with $200,000 ransom has been closed.

The FBI and Clark County sheriff's deputies ended six days of scouring a 15-square-mile area around Woodland Tuesday without a trace of the man who called himself "D. B. Cooper." He bailed out of a Northwest Airlines plane between Seattle and Reno.

The FBI would say only "the investigation is continuing."

A computer in the Boeing 727 indicated that the hijacker, who collected the ransom in Seattle when he released the plane's passengers, probably jumped from the plane over Woodland.

- 1. Line G-I-K-M represents the airplane's flight path as it approached the Portland (PDX) VOR.
- 2. The cabin pressure "bump" occurred at 0410 GMT, the time being wecorded by the NVA Flight Operations Office (NVAFO) in Minneapolitical It is a virtual certainty that the pressure "bump" marks the time that the high-jacker (hJ) left the airplane. The airplane was ot Point A at that time, thus the HJ's body would land at Point A if lic 'chutes did not open (unlikely).
- 3. If it is assumed that the HJ was a highly expert parachutist, and would thus free-fall as far as practicable to insure the best accurccy of his touchdown point, he would land slightly to the NE of Point A due to his drifting with the wind from the point of 'chute opening.
- 4. If the HJ opened his 'chute as soon as he left the airplane, he Would drift along the line A-B and would touch down at B. All lines parallel to A-B are lines along which the HJ would drift , if he opened his 'chute relatively early.
- 5. The parallelogram indicated by C-D-F-E represents the boundaries of the probable touchdown area adjusted for possible time errors and for the above described wind drift. It is probably the most fruitful search area.
- 6. The earliest the HJ could have jumped is 0406, and this point is represented by Point G.
- 7. The crew believes the pressure "bump" occurred at / 0410 , but in any even are certain it occurred before o415. If the hJ jumped at 0406 (unlikely) he would land on or near line G-H. If he jumped at 0415 he would land on or near line MN.
- 8. Raced on the above explanation of Figure 1, and on all the assumptions based in its preparation, the following are pertinent:
 - a. The most likely landing point for the HJ is at, or slightly NE of Point A.
 - b. His landing point is more likely to be in area C-D-F-E than any other.
 - c. It is possible his landing point could be anywhere within the area shown (G-H-N-M), but the probability goes down as the ends of this area are approached.

Skydiver Questioned In Hijacking

SEATTLE (UPI) - It was a case of mistaken identity, but Bill Whitney admits he was almost a perfect suspect.

The 33-year-old champion skydiver was questioned over five hours by the FBF in their search for the man who hijacked a plane Nov. 24 and parachuted with $200,000 ransom.

WHITNEY said Sunday that he wears dark glasses, lacked a strong alibi, was coholder of the Northwest Sky-jumping altitude record and looked remarkably like an FBI sketch of the skyjacker.

"I know a lot of jumpers up and down the coast. I un: derstand a lot of them looked at that sketch and thought of me," he said.

Whitney, interrogated by FBI agents Thursday, said he didn't think the daring skyjacking feat was very difficult.

"I could have done it, yes, but I didn't," said the bachelor businessman, whose height, weight, age and complexion were different from those given of the aerial bandit.

THE SKYJACKER bailed out of a Northwest Airlines 727 jetliner after showing the stewardess what he said was a bomb, and released the passengers in Seattle for $200,000 and four parachutes. The FBI said the man, who called himself "D. B. Cooper" could have jumped anywhere between Seattle and Reno, Nev.

Northwest Airlines, Inc.,	- 1

. Minnesota, advised as follows:

Flight 305, which was hijacked on November 24, 1971, involved a Boeing 727, a tri-jet. As you stand in front of the rear stairs facing the pilots cockpit, there are panels which open on the right and left sides of the aircraft. These panels can be opened and the panel on the right side has sufficient room for two average-sized males. The panel on the left side has sufficient room for one average male.

However, these panels cannot be entered unless the stairs are 100 per cent down. In his opinion these panels could not be entered at all while the aircraft is in flight, even though the stairs are partially decended.

Under the best conditions while the aircraft is on the ground, it is a difficult matter for an individual without assistance to enter these panels and then re-close the doors. In his opinion, it would be practically impossible for the unknown subject to have entered and concealed himself in either one of these compartments.

The big problem is this, A Sgt. of the Seattle, PD, and the local prosecutor have made arrangements with NWAat Seattle to fly the Sgt. to Minneapolis and exhibit photo to the witnesses. If they identify, the local DA intends to file charges. Apparently ASAC BIBLER on learning of this inquired of the Chief as to to their jurisdiction in this matter, and the answer he received was that they would figure out some sort of a charge. HAS '14 MONTHS TO LIVE'

New 'hijacker' letter claims

LOS ANGELES, Calif.

— A person claiming to be the man who bailed out of a jetliner with $200,000.

he extorted from Northwest Airlines says he is dying and committed the crime "to gain a few fast grains of peace of mind."

In a copy of a typewritten note received Monday by the Los Angeles Times, a man signing the name "D. B. Cooper" said he knew he wouldn't be caught because of his disguise, lack of fingerprints and other unspecified means he said he used to baffle authorities:

"I am no modern day Robin Hood," the note said. "Unfortunately I do have only 14 months to live."

The letter was the latest of several received by various newspapers.

The hijacker armed with what appeared to be a bomb, took control of a jetliner on a flight from Portland, Ore., to Seattle on Thanksgiving eve. After receiving $200,000 in $20 bills at Seattle, the man ordered the plane to? Mexico and bailed out between Seattle and a refueling stop at Reno, Nev.

The hijacker is believed to be a man who boarded the plane at Portland under the name "D. B. Cooper"

"I've come and gone on several airline flights and am not holed up in some obscure backwoods town," the man said in the note postmarked in Seattle last Satuday. "Neither am I a psychopathic killer. As a matter of fact, I've never even received a speeding ticket."

The letter was turned over to FBI agents.

Aleged Hijacker Writes "I am no modern-day Robin Hood. Unfortunately. I have only 14 months to live. Papers I have only 14 months to name on the copy of the letator sent to the Los Angeles Times was this sequence of numbers and letters: "7698"

The Los Angeles Times SEATTLE - Several newspapers received a half-boastful, half-plaintive lefter Monday from a person claiming to be the man who hijacked an airliner and parachuted out the back door with $200,000,

The Los Angeles Times received a copy of the let-ter, postmarked in Seattle last Saturday, as did the Seattle Times, Copies also went to the New York Times and the Washington Post, the letter-writer indicated. The Washington Post had not received such a letter as of Monday night.

The Northwest Orient 727 airliner was hijacked on the night before Thanksgiving on a flight from Portland, Ore., to Seattle.

The writer of the typewritten letter, which was received in Los Angeles Monday, said he "knew from the start" that he wouldn't be caught because he wore a disguise, left no fingerprints and used other, unspecified means of confounding authorities.

The letter, the latest of several received by various newspapers, was turned over to FBI agents. The FBI headquarters in Washington refused to comment.

"I didn't rob Northwest Orient because I thought it would be romantic, heroic or any of the other euphe-misms that seem to attach themselves to situations of high risks," said the letter. j writer.

"My life has been one of hate, turmoil, hunger and more hate. This seemed to be the fastest and most profitable way to gain a few fast grains of peace of mind. I don't blame people for hating me for what I've done nor do I blame anybody for wanting me to be caught and punished, though this can never happen."

He said he wore a toupee and putty makeup which would make it impossible for anyone to recognize him from a composite picture distributed by the FBI.

"I've come and gone on several airline flights and am not holed up in some obscure backwoods town," he said. "Neither am I a psychopathic killer. As a matter of fact, I've never even received a speeding ticket."

He typed at the bottom the name "D. B. Cooper," which was the name giver by the hijacker when he bought a ticket to Seattle at Portland. Underneath the numbers and letters: "7698 QA 2753." The Seattle Times letter had different numbers at the bottom.

Airline crew members who saw the hijacker before he bailed out between Seattle and Reno said he was between 40 and 50 years old, stood about six foot and weighed about 175 pounds. They said he had a receding hairline.

The FBI has given no indication of whether it has any good leads on the whereabouts of the hijacker, but did announce Friday that it has released to banks and department stores the serial! numbers of the bills he took. The entire $200,000 was in $20 bills. Identification will be difficult because the 10,000 series numbers are not in sequence.

IN SONG, T-SHIRT, SEARCH

Daring Deeds of NWA Hijacker Live On

By MARY PAT MURPHY, SEATTLE (P)—The deeds of D. B. Cooper, the mysterious hijacker who parachuted into the night with $200,000, live on in song and T-shirt—and in the minds of searchers who hope to recover the

D. B. Cooper, a name authorities doubt is his own, bailed out of a Northwest Airlines 727 jetliner somewhere between Seattle and Reno, Nev., on Thanksgiving eve. With him went the $200,000 he had extorted from the airline by threatening to blow up the plane.

After about four days,

After about four days, the official search around Woodland, Wash., the area where Cooper was believed to have landed, was canceled. But an unofficial treasure hunt be-

COWLITZ COUNTY Sheriff Charles Gill says information released by the FBI indicates that if the hijacker bailed out in gan in earnest.

the hijacker bailed out in the Woodland area, the odds are he didn't make land-safely. ..."Definitely the people in this area feel that if what we hear is true—that he jumped near Pigeon Springs—he's still up there," Gill said.

On the chance that D. B. Cooper may be dangling from a tree somewhere in the Washington forest with the $200,000 buried in a nearby snowbank, a number of local people have been combing the areas on trail bikes, Gill said.

WOODLAND POLICE.
Chief Joe May, a private pilot, says he has logged 20 hours in his own plane looking for the missing hijacker.

"Just about all the fliers in Oregon and Washington are searching, but in my opinion some hunter will probably find him," May said.

If the searchers do find the $200,000, U.S. Atty, Stan Pitkin says, the money must be returned to the airline. Pitkin says he knows of no reward offered for recovery of the money, which was given to Cooper in $20 bills—their serial numbers recorded by authorities.

To the delight of promoters and the displeasure of law and airline officials, the saga of D. B. Cooper is being popularized in a twangy baliad that's sold 1,500 copies and depicted on a T-shirt that shows a parachute floating downward with a case of money.

money.
The title of the song and the caption of the T-shirt illustration are the same:
"D. B. Cooper, Where Are You?"

THE SHIRT is the creation of Dick Kaiser, a 29year-old restaurant em-

DICK KAISER MODELS T-SHIRT HE CREATED Hijacking has also been captured in song ploye who said he presented his first one as a joke to a deputy sheriff who predicted D. B. Cooper would be caught before Christmas Eye.

Kaiser says he's since sold about 2,400 of the Tshirts at $1.50 each, wholesale, and reports orders from Texas, Arkansas, California and Neyada.

Kaiser sold some shirts to the gift shop at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport. A spokesman for Host International, which operates the gift shop, said the shirts were not resold and because Northwest felt they were in bad taste.

"I don't believe we control what the gift shop sells," an airline spokesman said. "However, I don't think they are in the best of taste."

THE SONG "D. B. Cooper, Where Are You?" has received a similarly cool reception from law enforcement officers, although several Seattle radio stations report hundreds of requests for the record, sung by local nightclubsinger Tom Bresh on the Thunder Tummy label.

"Was D. B. Cooper, a Robin Hood, or just another thief in the night?" the song asks. "He took from the rich and gave it all to himself. Now was that wrong or right?"

"D. B. Cooper was a romantic-type figure who caught people's imaginations," said the song's publisher. M. K. Bakker. "It's just this idea. Here's this guy who takes this airplane and jumps out of it — who jumps out of a jet."

U. S. MARSHAL Charles Robinson of Seattle disapproves of the image of Cooper as folk hero.

"Cooper is neither a hero of sorts nor a Robin Hood by any definition," he says. "He endangered the lives of innocent people and his actions encourage similar behavior by others who might also have aberrent inclinations."

"Kidnaping and threats of murder hardly deserve glorification," Robinson said.

Sheriff Gill agrees. "I am a little bit disturbed that even the general public thinks he's some kind of a Robin Hood, He isn't. Think of all the fear he put the crew through."

Nonetheless, the interest continues in the mysterious Mr. Cooper. In Montana, the Helena Independent Record signed its post-Christmas editorials, "Merry Christmas D. B. Cooper, wherever you, are."

The paper has received no reply to its message.

His ears were slightly smaller in the fleshy area, and not so squared off. The noxe should be thinner. Mouth - bottom lip is good but not quite so wide; more hollow below cheekbone and jaw. Chin possibly smaller.

In addition to the above, _____ had made the following additional comments concerning the hijacker:

His clothing consisted of dark pants, white shirt, black or dark tie, coat dark, and wore black horn-rimmed colored glasses. He looked very clean cut, was a very heavy smoker, no noticeable accent, very soft spoken, and he did not impress her as being athletically inclined.

On viewing a facsimile copy of an artist's conception of the hijacker on Northwest Flight 305, on November 24, 1971, she stated that the conception was not, in her opinion, a good likeness of the hijacker. She requested permission to examine the Facial Identification Catalog, and immediately picked out photo number KK5-1, in the Facial Lines Section, stating, "that is him, except for the ears and hair." She explained that the person depicted in that particular number photo closely resembled the man; however, the ears of the hijacker did not protrude as far from the head, and she felt that the hair line should be some lower than that on the man depicted in photo number KK5-1. She was very adamant in her insistence that the artist's conception shown to her was not a good likeness of the hijacker.

ь6 b7С Dear Fellow Americans:

I come to you for aid in a battle, not against the structure of the government, but against the injustice imposed by two individuals within the government structure. The two individuals have misused the power of their offices, granted to them by the federal government, in an attempt to destroy my means of support for my wife and four small children, one which is an invalid for life.

This is what happened. Long before my wife came into my life or my children were born, I was a convict. I served all of my time and thought that I had paid my debt to society,

During my time in Federal prison, I was directed to a rehabilitation program in aviation; in previous years as a private pilot I had logged 9.815 hours. The Federal Prison education system purchased the necessary books, brought in outside instructors to prepare me for the FAA written examinations for Commercial Pilot and Flight Instructor. After I completed the studies, the FAA examiners came into the Federal prison and gave me the examinations, which I passed successfully.

I was released from federal prison 14 years ago and became a professional pilot, licensed by the FAA. While making my livelihood in flying and through much more study, I earned by Airline Transport Pilot Rating, the highest attainable license that a pilot can hold.

One year after I was released from federal prison, I won the Eastern U.S. aerobatic championship. Nine years after my release from federal prison, I flew solo around the world from east to west, following the route of Amelia Earhart.

On August 1, 1968, Dr. Dalton Hoffman, Assistant Flight Surgeon of the Ft. Worth FAA region, grounded me because of my police record, although I have not had an arrest in all of these years since I left prison. I had learned to fly in 1944, and in the following 26 years and 22,000 hours, I have never had an airman violation.

In my 2½ years of personal battle with Hoffman and Dr. Seigle, Federal Air Surgeon, a frightening thing has become apparent to me. Americans no longer are led by the pride of the federal government; rather, they are driven in fear of it.

For instance, I have a friend who owns a large trucking company. He is afraid to openly come to my rescue in my battle with the FAA because of reprisals against his Interstate Commerce Commission license. I have another friend who directs a large television station and for the same reason, he stands in fear of losing his Federal Communication license. Yet another friend owns a large casino in Las Vegas. Although he is honest with his taxes, is afraid because of the Internal Revenue Service. I also have many friends in aviation who are afraid to help because of their fear that the Federal Aviation Agency will take reprisal against their operators licenses.

What has happened to America when even large corporations operate in frozen fear of the Federal Government. It is true that the fears of these Americans are justified, and it is time that someone stood up to fight. I am not joining or forming any left or right or radical groups. I am standing up as a citizen and I hope to be heard and listened to.

While I was in the U.S. Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas. I was a school teacher, and one of the subjects that I taught was history. This is one reason that I can see what has happened to our nation.

The story of what has happened to our nation is similar to the story of a person who had a beautiful rich and green forest. This person decided to build a rail fence around the forest to protect it. After cutting trees and building the protective fence, the person looked about and there were no trees left to protect.

In my travels all over the world, again because of my history teaching background, I have looked at the other systems carefully. Let me assure you that our forefathers designed the best government system in existence on the face of the earth today.

I would compare our government, at this time, to a fine stone house: a house which has unwavering foundations, uncracked walls; but the doors, windows and roof are deteriorating through the lack of proper care. I am sure the eyes of every American has viewed such a house.

The deterioration to our fine government structure has, in the main part, occured during World War II, and since that time. During this time, the people that we have sent to represent us in Washington have been of four types. The first type are those who have been led to vote by the glitter of military heroes. The second type are those who have voted in total ignorance. The third type, and the most dastardly, are those who see money kickbacks in their vote. The fourth, and rare, are the minority who have fought for the people and have preserved what little we have now. Otherwise we would have a total military dictatorship. God bless those few dictatorship. God bless these few.

The thing that has been our greatest blunder, but was intended to be an honor of faith, was the priority of employment of military connected people. Do you know that more than nine out of ten of the employees in the Federal Government that are making becisions for you are ex-military trained people? You say, so what?

This is so what. I will take the example in aviation, because this is where I am an expert. We take a man who has spent his life in the Air Force and retired at 20 years. He has unquestionably become an expert in aviation, so he is employed through military priority into the Federal Aviation Agency. He now draws his military retirement check and a high Federal Aviation Agency pay. This man is financially secure, and his mind never has to dwell on how to make ends meet.

Let's go back through this man's career. Twenty years ago, he went into the service and learned to fly. During this time and since, he has never bought the first gallon of gasoline for his aircraft or suffered any financial burden in its operation. All that he has had to do was contact Capitol Hill, and in turn, Capitol Hill told the Treasury to write another hot check on the Treasury Department of the United States. This is the reason that our national debt is into the billions.

This man, through his aviation career in the service, discovered many good safety devices, and had them installed on all the military aircraft, not having to worry about their cost. So now, this man is working for the FAA and he remembers the safety devices that he developed in the service. Granted, they are good, but again not worrying about the cost of these devices, he writes the order to all civil aircraft owners. By a certain date, they must have this device installed on their aircraft. even if the device, in some cases, costs as much as the original aircraft. At this point, the aircraft owner is told to either comply or get out of the airplane business.

In all branches of government, this procedure has come about from the military minds. Their demands for our welfare and security has become more than we can afford. If we write hot checks to comply with their demands, we go to jail because we do not have the privileges of the Secretary of the Treasury. Through this procedure, there have been thousands of businesses forced to close, even though these businesses have been operated successfully within a family structure for generations.

The military mind in our civil agencies has become a disaster to the nation. The military should have its reward, for past wars fought and wars yet to come, but what about the poor guy who has stayed at home and worried years off his life trying to support the waste and blunders of the wars won or in preparation of those to come?

I need only your moral backing and any type of financial assistance is very much needed and appreciated. Your financial support will not be used to make bombs, set fires, or destroy our fine governmental system; but will be used to extract those individuals who are driving our government machinery in such a manner as to create fear of the machine. You can purchase the finest aircraft, ship, train, truck, or farm; place inconsiderate or incompetent people in charge of these investments and you are headed for disaster. This is the condition of our Federal Government Agencies. They are creating a disaster in our nation. -

Sincerely,

Capt. Marion M. Cooper

FBI Still After D. B. Cooper; Army Helps in Newest Search

LAKE MERWIN, Wash.
(UPI) — It appears the FBI hasn't given up the search for the parachuting hijacker D. B. Cooper— in fact they've launched a new search with an undetermined amount of Army personnel.

A Portland television station (KATU-TV) reported an Army guard was turning away cars in an area near Lake Merwin, Wash., Tuesday. The station said the Seattle office of the FBI confirmed the Army activity was connected with the thanksgiving Eve hijack.

Thanksgiving Eve hijack.

A MAN using the name
D. B. Cooper highjacked a it
Northwest 727 on a flight from Portland to Seattle.
At Seattle, Cooper demanded and received $200,000 ransom money and four parachutes.

After the money and parachutes were delivered to the plane the craft took off for Reno, Nev., and FBI agents said somewhere along the route Cooper parachuted from the plane. They feel southwestern Washington, was the most likely spot.

Earlier this year a Portland FBI agent told UPI that as soon as warm weather returned the FBI ' planned to launch a fullscale search for Cooper.

FEDERAL agents feel the hijacker did not survive the jump in near-zero temperatures and his body and the $200,000 must be in the surrounding hills.

If was believed the Army units were camping in a park belonging to Pacific Power and Light here.

DATE:

4/10/72

FROM:

SAC RICHARD G. HELD

SUBJECT:

NORJAK

SAC EARL MILNES, Seattle Division, telephonically advised at 4:15 p.m., this date, that important information has been received indicating that it is entirely possible that the highjacker of the United Airlines plane at Salt Lake City, Utah, is identical to the subject of captioned case. He stated that the Salt Lake City subject's picture is very similar to the artist's conception previously prepared on the NORJAK subject.

SAC MILNES requested that

, Northwest Airlines, he contacted for the following information:

He requested that all tickets for flights from Portland, Oregon, to Seattle, Washington, and Seattle, Washington, to Portland, Oregon, for the period 11/10/71 through 11/24/71 be checked to see whether any of them were listed under the following names:

RICHARD FLOYD MC COY

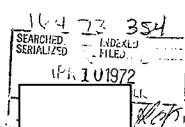

R. MC COY

D. COOPER or DAN COOPER

He stated that it had been determined that the subject of the Salt Lake City case had made a trial run a week prior to this highjacking, and it was the opinion of those at the Bureau that possibly the NORJAK subject did the same thing. If any ticket coupons are located under any of the above names all pertinent information regarding the flight should be checked out. This matter is to receive immediate attention.

2 charged in plot to impersonate 'D. B. Cooper'

United Press International

Seattle, Wash.

Two men were arrested by FBI agents. Tuesday on charges of trying to bilk a magazine editor by selling him a fake interview with parachuting skyjacker "D. B. Cooper" for $30,000.

William J. Lewis, 33, silverdale, Wash., and Donald S. Murphy. 49, Bremerton, Wash., were charged with conspiracy to defraud Karl P. Fleming, a former contributing editor of Newsweek maga-

The suspects were arraigned before U.S. Magistrate Charles Schaaf who set bail at $50,000 for Lewis and $8,000 for Murphy.

The charges said that Lewis responded to newspaper advertisements placed by Fleming who said he wanted to contact "Cooper" for a confidential interview. "D. B. Cooper" was the name given by a man who hijacked a Northwest Airlines jetliner last Thanksgiving Eve and extorted $200,000 in marked currency. Cooper then parachuted from the plane on a flight between Seattle and Reno, Nev. He never has been found.

Lead: concerning suspects will not be set forth in this report as they are being hundled by separate communication.

There are currently G37 suspects, 470 of whom have been eliminated. New suspects are being developed and systematic elimination of these suspects continues.

In an effort to facilitate interoffice communications, it is requested that all field offices originating NORDAK communications, not only refer to the appropriate communications but also include the suspect(s) name and aliab(cs) if known on the first page under the title NORDAK.

For the information of all field offices, the Bureau advised by airtel September 13, 1972, that this is the only aircraft hijacking in which the subject has not been identified and apprehended nor the ranse; money recovered. All leads in this important case are to be set forth expeditiously. The investigation of this case is to be vigorously pursued in all facets in order to bring it to a successful completion.

It is noted that the investigative period overlaps provious KONJAN reports. This has been done since previous reports were not distributed to all field offices.

It is noted that Uncub in this matter is almost universally called "D. B. COOTER" by the press, the public, and even by Bureau personnel. Factually, there is no basis for this alias. As a possible explanation for the existence of the alias "D. B. COOPER" the following sequence of events is offered:

While the hijacking was in progress on the c	ivening

There was no FBI release to the press concerning the above suspect, but the press coverage in Oregon, and in the State of Washington was so intense, it may have become known to the press, that the above _______ was contacted by a police officer.

It is suggested that the fact that the name "D.B. COOPER" is not involved in this matter not be given publicity outside the Bureau in order to utilize this fact as an aid in the initial evaluation of new leads.

INVESTIGATIVE STEPS TO-PROCESS NORTAK SUSPECTS

This list in no way represents all the means available to process a suspect. Each individual case prompts a different method; one or more of the below listed methods have been used in the past.

- 1. Obtain current descriptive data (particularly useful is age, height and complexion)
- 2. Ascertain location on November 24, 1971, by
 - (a) checking employment records.
 - (b) checking cancelled checks or credit card transactions.
 - (c) interviewing acquaintances or relatives (note November 24th was the day before Thanksgiving, 1971).
- 3. Ascertain present location to determine if he is alive or if he appears to be in hiding.

ь6 ь7с

- 4. Ascertain if he has knowledge of airplanes or parachuting (i.e. private pilot's license, skydiving experience, or military jump experience).
- 5. Obtain current photograph, color if possible, to display to witnesses. (Note: All NORJAK eyewitnesses have been repeatedly contacted and have reviewed numerous photographs. Up to now they have been extremely cooperative, not withstanding the many contacts they have endured both at work and at home. Based on the above, these witnesses will not be contacted to view photographs unless there is no other way to eliminate a suspect).
 - 6. Compare suspect's fingerprints and palm prints with NORJAK partials on file in the Identification Bureau.
 - Ascertain if he is in any way familiar with the Pacific Northwest area and in particular if he ever flew over this area.
 - 8. Check current financial situation and contrast it to his situation prior to NORJAK.
 - 9. Determine if he smokes cigarettes or if he ever smoked cigarettes. (Note: Unsub smoked Raleigh cigarettes).
 - 10. Determine if he was registered at a motel or hotel near the Portland Airport just prior to NORJAK.
 - 11. Determine if he made any trial runs prior to NORJAK on airlines flying between Portland and Seattle.
 - 12. Determine if has a safe deposit box and consider feasibility of obtaining a court or or to determine its contents.
 - 13. Compare his hair to hair fiber found on NORJAK airplane.

- 14. Check medical records (subject was apparently in rood health and athletic at the time of KORAK but he could have been injured in the jump).
- 15. Pitermine if he had reason to have a grudge on November 24, 1971. (Possibilities might be loss of job, especially airline-related job, Vietnam War, ethnic freedom, etc.)
- 16. Determine his criminal background. (It is felt Unsub was not an experienced criminal.)
- 17. Determine suspect's educational background.
 (Unsub was probably a high school graduate and may have had further education.)
- 18. Determine if he is or was an alcoholic. (It is felt Unsub was not an alcoholic.)
- 19. Determine if he has an accent of any kind. (Unsub did not.)
- 20. Determine if the tie or tie tac found on NORJAK belongs to suspect.
- 21. Check suspect's name through
 - (a) St. Louis Office for military records to determine jump experience. (Note: need service; umber or SSAN.)
 - (b) Airline Pilot Association (ALPA), headquarters Washington, D.C.
 - (c) Parachute Club of America, U.S. Parachute Association, PO Box 109, Monterey, California 93940.
 - (d) Raleigh Coupon Redemption Center, Brown and Williamson Tobacco Company, Hill Street, Louisville, Kentucky. (Records kept only one year.)

PROFILE

The purpose of the following information is to conveniently list all the known facts concerning the hijacker's prefite and to combine them with suppositions that can be reasonably inferred from those facts. The suppositions have been included to aid in processing a suspect. They should not be considered as concrete facts, nor should they be used as the sole determining factor in drawing investigative conclusions.

SUMMARY

Unsub was a well spoken, conservative gentlemen; probably a Catholic with Mexican or Indian blood. He was not an alcoholic. He probably lived in the Portland or Scattle areas or had flown more than once over these areas. He appearently had no accomplicas. He was not an experienced skydiver and most probably received his jump training in the military. His hijacking plan was not well thought out, and he was probably not an emberienced criminal. He was appearently having financial troubles prior to November, 1971, and he may have previously worked in an airline-related indus try.

The reasons for the above suppositions are included below.

BACKGROUND

It is felt Unsub was not an experienced criminal because of his mannerism exhibited after he received the ransom money. Unsub reportedly became somewhat childish in his actions and comments while counting the money.

Unsub was familiar with the Seattle area, as indicated by his comments concerning the plane's location as it flew over Tacoma, Washington. In addition, Unsub made a comment as to the distance McChord Air Force Base was in relation to Sea-Tac Airport. Unsub reportedly indicated McChord was approximately 20 minutes i om Sea-Tac, which is essentially correct.

Unsub stated he was hijacking the aircraft because of a grudge. He may have had a relative, possilly a son, killed in Vietnam or he may have had recent financial problems which would foster such a grudge.

Unsub's complexion has been described as swarthy or dark. The grudge may be associated with his background which could possibly be Indian, Mexican or possibly Italian descent. Note unsub has been described by withess as definitely having some Mexican or Indian "blood" in him.

It is noted the northwest area at the time of the hijacking was suffering from a depressed economic condition, and since Unsub was familiar with the Scattle area as indicated above, it is possible Unsub was out of work at the time of NORJAK. In addition, Unsub demonstrated considerable knowledge of aircraft and of flying, and it is felt he was employed in the aircraft industry, either civilian or military at one time in his life, therefore, it is logical to assume unsub may possibly have been out of work in an airlines-related industry.

His actions and reactions that occurred throughout the hijacking indicate unsub probably was not a desperate man, nor was he mentally ill such as a paranoid type. Unsub exhibited an unusually calm manner throughout the whole hijacking.

Unsub was probably a "loner" and carried out the hijacking by himself, with no partners. Throughout the hijacking, he exhibited a competency in reacting to various situations that arose. It is believed that Unsub was not an experienced criminal, but a victim of circumstances.

Unsub's physical build and his handiness with the parachute shroud lines indicates coordination and some physical ability as will as inventiveness. (It is noted that during the hijacking unsub requested a knapsack to put the money in and he received a small white bar instead. Unsub took a small pocket knife from his person and fashioned a means to attach the small bag to his body using parachute lines from an unused parachute. Since it is believed unsub was not well prepared for the hijacking and had not thouse fully thought the hijacking out, he most probably always carries a small pocket knife with him.

The following information tends to indicate unsubwas somewhat conservative in his thinking and druss:

- 1. Short style hair
- 2. Age mid 40's
- 3. Dark colored swit, dark colored raincoat, white shirt, narrow black tie.
- 4. Undub did not swear and showed a great deal of respect for the stewardesses on the airline because they were women. (Unsub engaged in a small argument with one of the passengers, as well as experiencing extremely tende and nervous situations, and through it all he never used profess language this might indicate he is possibly a religious man. Since he did drink, and since he is possibly religious, he probably is not a Baptist or Mormon.)

The following information tends to indicate Unsubpossibily possessed athletic ability:

- His physical build was described as average to well built, even though his age was described as in his mid-40's.
- Unsub exhibited some physical dexterity using his hands and a small knife.
- 3. Unsub apparently parachuted from an aircraft at night; something that would require no small degree of physical ability.

It is felt unsub possibly maintains his physical well being through regular exercise.

SE 164-81 The following information tends to indicate the Unsub was a gentlemen: 1. He offered to tip the stewardesses on the NONJAK flight after he received his ransom money. He did not offer them ransom money as the tip, but used his own money. During the entire hijacking he did not use: profane language. З. Throughout the hijacking he maintained a calm demeanor and spoke low and intelligently. The following information tends to indicate Unsub lived in the northwest area at some time in his life: Unsub knew the distance from McChord to Sed-Tac and recognized Tacoma, Washington From the air. Unsub was dressed in a suit and lightweight overcoat which is commonly worn by many northwest area residents. No accent or unusual speech mannerisms were 3. detected by the Northwest Airlines stewardesses who had a chance to observe him. SPORT PARACHUTIST The hijacker is probably not a sports parachutist nor is he a member of a sport parachute club. The reasons for this are as follows: The hijacker requested two back parachutes and two front parachutes. He gave no specific instructions as to the type of parachute that he desired. (i.e. a sports parachutist would probably have requested a steerable sport ~ II -COVER PAGE DB Cooper-34109

2. Several upont parachutists have advised that a sport norachutist possesses on excitonal attachment to his parachute and probably upild not jump from an aircraft with anyone electrohute, nor would they jump with a churchthap had not packed themselves.

The hijacker was furnished a parachute that opens quickly, has a high rate of descent, and one that was not steepable.

- 3. The hijacker was furnished two front parachutes, commonly called chest packs which are to be used in an emergency when the back pack parachute or main parachute fails to open properly. The chest pack parachute the hijacker took with him was a dummy parachute. It was designed for lectures to domonstrate to new parachutists the proper method of opening a chest pack parachute. It is felt an experienced sports parachutist would probably have noticed this defect.
- 4. Unoub's age has been described as wid 40's and it is noted that the average age in most sport parachute clubs is mid 20's. If Unsub was a member of a sport parachute club he would certainly be an unusual member, one that would be easily recognized by the other members, as well as one that was well known because of his unusual age. It is felt that due to the large ascent of publicity afforded this case, someone in a sport parachute club would have recognized his feller "sky diver" as being identical with Unsub if in fact Unsub was a member of any sports parachute club.

When the stewarders presented the parachutes to the hijacker she also presented an instruction sheet on how to utilize a parachute. At that time, Unsub stated he did not need any instructions concerning the use of a parachute.

Since Unsub did not specify a specific ty, a of chute and because of the above reasoning concerning Unsub's age, it is felt unsub was not an experienced jumper or even a sport jumper. In addition, Unsub probably had some jump training most probably obtained while in the military.

HARTIS

Unsub dyinks in moderation and is probably not an alcoholic. Unsub created one bourbon and seven at the beginning of the flight and although he was offered seven; I free drinks later, he turned them down. This would indicate that Unsub possessed sufficient willpower to refuse alcoholing a tension-fitted situation. It is believed an alcoholic or a former alcoholic who had just had one drink and was placed in a situation of similar stress would succurb to the pressure and imbibe in the free drinks offered him by the stewardesses.

Located in the ashtray utilized by Unsub were eight digarette butts, seven of which have been identified by the FBI Laboratory as Raleigh filter digarettes, and the eighth digarette is possibly the same. These digarettes are sold in a "soft pack". Unsub was in the aircraft eight hours in an extremely tense situation. During the eight hours, he had eight digarettes. A two-pack-a-day smoker would have consumed 20 digarettes in eight hours under normal directances. It is felt Unsub may possibly smoke less than one pack a day.

CLOTHES

Located in Seat 18 E (the seat Unsub occupied) was a black clip-on tie which contained a tie clip described as yellow gold in color, with a white pearl circular stone in the center. The label in the tie bore the name "Towncraft" and bore the legend "Stone 3, Penneys". The label in this tie showed it to be a "Snapper" patent type tie. Investigation at Las Vegas indicated this type times about a for about $1.50 and that this particular tie was about a year to a ayear and a half old. It was a favorite item for individuals such as waiters, busboys and bartenders.

Stewardess MUCKLOW has said that this tie, found on the aircraft, was probably Unsubs and other witnesses have indicated he wore a similar type tie.

Since Unoub wore a tie during the hijacking and for other reasons described above, it is felt he was possibly an executive. However, since the tie was naurow and a clip-on type not currently in style, Unsub was possibly not on a top-level executive.

Unsub carried with him a cheap briefcase that appeared to be new. It is thought the hijacker probably purchased this briefcase just prior to the hijacking to be used during the hijacking only.

Unsub wore a white chirt with small collar points indicating he probably did not have the money to obtain a more fashionable wardrobe (i.e. more colorful shirts with larger collars currently in style). The white shirt could also indicate the hijacker's conscreative taste in clothing.

EDUCATION

Unsub was accessed to be a high school graduage possibly with some collect training, based primarily on vocabulary used during the hijack. Further, Unsub in a used stowardesses as possibly being experienced in dealing with They, therefore, concluded he was the executive type and seemed to naturally dictate the randomed demands to the stewardysacs in lieu of writing the notes out himself.

NORTHWEST AIRLINES FLICHT #350,

PORTLAND, OREGON, TO SEATTLE, MASHINGTON

NOVEMBER 24, 1971

Character:

CRIME ABOARD AIRCRAFT - HIJACKING; EXTORTION

Synopsis:

On November 24, 1971, a white male skyjacked a Morthwest Airlines Flight from Portland to Seattle. hijacker demanded and received $200,000 and four para- . chutes upon landing at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport. After receiving the ransom money, the hijacker allowed the passengers to leave. The plane them took off for Reno and at 8:11 p.m. a pressure oscillation was noted by the plane's crew. That pressure oscillation was probably caused by the hijacker leaving the aircraft. Search of the aircraft at Reno revealed the hijacker was not in the plane when it landed. Extensive searches of the area into which the hijacker would have landed ... failed to locate the hijacker or any evidence of value. The initial black and white artist composite drawing of the hijacker was changed to a color sketch to more accurately reflect the hijacker's age and swarthy complexion.

THE HUJACK

The Unsub, aka ______, at 2:00 PM, Pacific Standard Time, November 24, 1971, purchased a one-way corch ticket at the Portland International Airport, Portland, Oregon, for travel from Portland to Scattle, Washington, on Northwest Orient Airlines Flight Number 305, which was a Boeing 727 aircraft. Unsub paid for this flight with a twenty dollar bill and had no luggage. He occupied seat number 18 E on the aircraft.

The Bosing 727 has three seats on each side of the aisle. Row 18 is the last one on both the right and left side of the aicle. The seats are identified from left to right as you face the front of the aircraft with A,B,C on the left side of the aisle and D (aisle seat), E (center seat) and F (window seat) on the right side.

Almost flush against the back of row 18, except for some eight inches near the aisle, is a bulkhead which forms the wall for the lavatories, located behind row 18; one on the right and one on the left. Be; and the lavatory doors is the door leading to the air stairs.

The door to the air stairs is always closed and locked, except when locding or unloading passengers. It is located straight away at the end of the aisle beyond row 18 and is perhaps some 3½ feet from the last row and is in easy reach for someone sitting in row 18.

Built into the lower portion of the door to the air stairs is the stewardess seat which is pulled down when in use, so that a person sitting in that seat looks straight down the aisle toward the front of the aircraft. On take-off this seat was occupied by Stewardess

Prior to the time the aircraft taxied on the nun-way, he purchased a bourbon and Seven Up from Stewarder:

As the aircraft taxied toward the runway for takeoff, Unsub turned and handed Stewardesc and envelope containing a note written in black felt-tip pen on plain white unlined paper which said:

"Miss, I have a bomb here and I would like you to sit by me".

ь6 b7С

The hijacker then dictated the following:

"I want $200,000 by 5:00 p.m. in each". (No specification as to denomination, age or sequence of bilis). "Put it in a knapsack. I want two back parachutes and two front parachutes" (no other specification concerning parachute typus). "When we land I want a fuel truck ready to refuel" (probably his flying experience caused him to add this). "No funny stuff or I'll do the job" (the first attempted parachute skyjacking had been foiled about 12 days earlier by the hijacked aircraft's crew.)

The hijacker showed both Stevardesses the conforts of his briefease and stated it was an electrical device and requested the aircraft radio be used as little as possible.

The hijacker explained why he hijacked this plane by stating "it's not because I have a grudge against the airlines, it's because I have a grudge."

The hijacker then added that the flight suited his time, place and plane (probably the convenience of a Portland to Scattle flight suited the hijacker).

The hijacker very carefully demanded that each and every note either written by him or dictated to the steverdess by him be returned to him and he also had a used match cover which was used to convey notes returned to him.

Stewardess showed Stewardess the demand notes and then went to the cockpit where she displayed them to the captain of the aircraft. She thereafter remained in the cockpit where she prepared thirteen pages of notes concerning the hijacking.

The aircraft landed at Sea-Tac at 5:46 PM, PST, at which time $200,000. in twenty dollar bills, weighing 19 pounds, two back chutes and two chest chutes were given to him in a white canvas bag. The passengers then were allowed to deplane as were Stewardess.

The hijnoker went to the lavatory just behind row 18 (the row he which he was sixting) and as he exited the lavatory he was seen carrying the brielease on its side in both arms, with a 12"x16"x4" light-colored package on top of the briefease.

Stewardens them acted as a communications media between the Unsub and the captain of the aire craft until about five minutes after the aircraft departed the Seattle-Tocoma International Airport when she was instructed to go to the cockpit by the Unsub.

The hijacker's instructions after receiving the moncy were vague. He probably wanted to jump from the aircraft as soon as possible after the takeoff. The hipacker put two of the parachutes, a back pack and a front pack, on prior to take off. He also wanted the air stairs lowered prior to takeoff, thich subsequently proved to reimpossible. Finally the hijacker jumped as soon as practical after the stairs were lowered in flight. The hijacker was delayed from jumping by the trouble he experienced in lowering the air stairs and by the fact he was not provided a knapsack but rather a small white canvas bag which he had to affix to her person utilizing parachute shroud lines from an unused parachute.

At 8:11 PM, while the plane was at 10,000 fect, the crew experienced a pressure bump or oscillation and the Cabin Pressure Rate of Change Gauge also reacted violently and it was thought, at that time, that the hijacker might have left the aircraft.

When the aircraft landed at Reno, Nevada, a chest pack chute and a back type chute were found on the plane. The missing chest pack chute, sometimes referred to as an emergency chute, is a training pack "durmled up" to look like a good one. The missing back pack chute is non-storable and anyone utilizing this type chute would have no chance of slowing down or picking his spot on which to land.

Also located in soon 18 E of the aircraft at long, was a black chip-on tie which tentained a tie class described as yellow gold in color with a white petal circular cross in the center. The label in the tie bore the name "Tour-craft" and bore Store #3, Penneys. The label in this tie should it to be a "Snappen" patent type tie. Investigation in Les Veges indicated that this type sold for about $1.50, that it was about a year to a year and a half of, and it was a favorite item for individuals such as waited, bushoys and bartenders. St wardess has said that this tie was probably the Unsub's and other witnesses have indicated that he were a similar type tie.

Located in the ashtray utilized by the Unsub were eight eigenvette butts, seven of which have been identified by the FBT Laboratory as Raleigh filter tip eigenvettes and the eighth eigenvette is probably the same. These eigenvettes are sold in a "soft pack".

The two seats which she had observed to be occupied by the unknown subject were proceeded for finger-prints. In addition the telephone, the area around the rear does, the rear does and four plastic drinking glasses found in the trash procedure by the back does were also processed for fingerprints. In addition, a cloth toyal affixed to the rear of one of the seats reportedly occupied by the unknown subject was removed and examined by Reno Agents. On that towel was noted that appeared to be a short human hair.

ber 9, 1971, advised that an examination of the towel submitted by the Les Vegas Office, disclosed a brown head being clipping and a brown limb heir, both of Caucasian origin. The report continued that the head hair clipping is suitable for significant comparison results, but that the linb hair possesses to few unique microscopic characteristics to be of value for that purpose.

The Lobovatory also advised that the hairs obtained from the total have been mounted on a glass microscopic slide. They suggested that if microscopic comparisons between b6 b7С BE 164-81 between the head hair clipping and a known head hair sample were desired, that the glass microscopic slide containing the hair clipping should be resubmitted to the Laboratory by the Las Vegas Office.

The contents of the ashtray, the towel and the microscopic slide were returned by the Laboratory to the Las Vegas Office and are being held by the Las Vegas Division as evidence.

LOGS BY NORTHWEST ORIENT AIRLINES, SEATTLE AND MINNEAPOLIS

SD 164-81

It is apparent from the following excerpts, taken from logs maintained by ground personnel on November 24, 1971, that the hijacker exited the airplane at 8:11 p.m. local time.

When the hijacker jumped, the air stairs were forced closed causing an increase in air pressure similar to shutting a car door with the windows up. As this pressure increase occurred the co-pilot turned to look at the cabin rate of climb meter and in doing so his communications ear plug was pulled from his ear.

The co-pilot's comments at this tire were being recorded on a tape recorder which had previously been started on a time standard signal. Through careful play back and sequencing, the time of the pressure oscillation caused by the air stairs closing after Unsub departed was determined to be 8:11 p.m. local time.

Ransom money in the amount of $200,000 was made up entirely of used, random 20 dollar bills. It was obtained from the Scattle First National Bank, Main Office, and was part of a ransom package of $250,000, which had been maintained by the bank for such emergencies. The package measured approximately one foot by one foot by eight or nine inches and weighed 19 pounds.

A check of the Federal Aviation Administration flight section at Portland International Airport reflected that on November 24, 1971 between 8:00 PM and 9:00 PM, there was a cailing of 5,000 feet, 3,500 feet broken clouds, and at 1,500 feet scattered and broken clouds at times with a wind of 12-14 knots. The temperature at the end of the air stairs at the time of the jump was approximately 0° C.

On October 5, 1972, Mr. DONALD W. NYROP, President, Northwest Orient-Airlines, Minneapolis-Saint Paul International Airport, adviced he authorized a finers fee of $25,000 total reward on 15% for any portion of the ransom money that is returned.

In addition, The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, a local newspaper in Scattle, has offered $5,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Unsub.

was on, indicating that the hijacker was doing comothing with the air stairs. The plane, at that time, was flying at 7,000 feet.

The log contained an entry at 8:05 PH, indicating the crew had on two occasions, attempted to make contact with the hijecker but he did not reply. However, he then spoke over the Ph system and said "everything is okay."

An analysis on 11/24 and 25/71, of the flight path of the directit, after it left Deathle, and the logs provided by NWA, suggested that the bijneker was still in the airplane as of 8:05 PM. At that time the plane, according to radar tracking by the U.S. Air Force, was located at a point north of the Pidgeon Springs, Washington area and east of Ostrander, Washington. This would have been the northern most point when he was known to be on the aircraft.

At 8:11 PM, according to a log maintrined by NWA, the crew reported that they were "getting some oscillations in the cabin, must be foing something with air stairs." An inalycis as to the cause of this ocscillation, also referred to as a "pressure bump" or "change in the cabin pressure" pointed to the probability that it was caused by the hijacker leaving the aircraft.

- 2. Line G-1-J-K defines the westernmost, and Line L-14-N-O the earternmost probable airplane ground tracks based on the stated position tolerance of ±.0 nautical mile of the UCAF radar plot.
- 3. Lines A+B, H+P, and O+R are the average wind vectors between 10,000′ 1601, and the ground, and are the lines potable to which the HJ would drift after the perechute had opened.

- It is substantially less likely that the landing point is north of Line A-B. If it is, the most probable point is south of the Lewis River, and in the southwest portion of the area defitted by Points A-B-I-J-A.

On 11/26-25/71, based on information available from MWA, a search area was laid out in the southwest portion of the State of Washington, which was bounded by Woodland, Washington, on the west, Amboy, Washington, on the cart, Kalama, Washington on the north and a point seven miles north of the Columbia River, on the south. The prime scarch area was in an area seven miles east and seven miles west of an eight mile long flight line of the hijacked aircraft, bounded by an area two miles north of Lake Merwin and the Lowis River on the north, Amboy on the east, Woodland, on the west and Battle Ground, Washington, on the south. The search area was divided into six sectors. Four bullcopters and seven fixed-wind aircraft were utilized in an intensive, gridded air search of the prime area and a well . executed search of the secondary search area on 11/26, 11/27 and 11/29/71.

Ground units of local law enforcement personnel and Bureau Agents, made a house-to-house canvas of every dwelling and business establishment on every road in the prime search area from 11/25/71 through 12/3/71. Most of the roads in the full search area were also intensively covered in a door-to-door canvas, with negative results. All leads developed in this search which was coordinated with the air search, were checked with negative results. One item concerning a small aircraft flying in the vicinity of two private airfields west of Yacolt, Washington; was completely checked and it was found that the aircraft in question was a private plane flown by a known private pilot in the area and the flight took place the evening of 11/23/71.

All sightings from the air were checked by ground units with negative results. Lake Mcrwin was patrolled from the lake by two boats for its entire 42 mile length, of navigable water and also to the full extent of its 80 mile length, with negative results.

Based upon information received from the Stattle D. Mision on Hovember 25, 1971 proliminary steps were taken to alert all law enforcement agencies in Cowlitz, Louis, Whitiakum, and Clark Counties concerning the cearch which was to be instituted for the subject. A meeting was held with members of the Clark and Coulitz County Sheriff's Offices and local agencies at the Woodland, Washington City Hall and Police Department which was designated us search headquarters in view of its prominity to the Wood- land airport at which facilities were available for fixed wing aircraft and helicopters. Arrangements were made for helicopters and fixed wing aircraft to be available on Movember 26, 1971 and the scarch area was divided into seven scations, one of which was located in the Lewis River area of Cowlitz County and the others in the neatheastern section of Clark County. .

On November 28, 1971, reports of planes flying at night on November 23, 1971, in the vicinity of the airfields located at View, Washington, and in the vicinity of County Road 42 and Grantham Road in Clark County as well as other small airports in Clark and Cowlitz Counties were checked with all flights being explainable and normal.

On November 29, 1971, the area from Woodland, Washington, up the Lewis River Road to Cougar, Washington, and Yale Lake was covered on a house to house basis, all locations being in Cowlitz County. The business establishments and private homes contacted all had information concerning the subject and his physical description.

Further house to house coverage was afforded in an area near the midpoint of a circle specified by Northwest Airlines as the center of the suspected area in which the subject exited the airplane. Every house and business establishment in a 20 mile square area was contacted or recontacted and it was found all individuals contacted had information on the subject but no information of value other than that previously reported.

On November 30, 1971, all doctors, clinics, hospitals, and agencies which could render medical assistance to an individual who could have broken limbs or severe abrasions from being in a heavily wooded area were contacted and were also circularized with a composite photograph and description of the subject in Clark, Lewis, Cowlitz, Wahkiakum, and Skamania Counties.

A Bonneville Power Administration helicopter and one fixed wing aircraft upon a partial clearing of the weather continued an air search concentrating on the area which has a center point of a circle as furnished by Northwest Airlines. The search took in an area approximately 150 miles square and nothing of a positive nature was found.

Further house to house canvassing was conducted by Agents in the prime search area near the center of the circle as provided by Northwest Airlines. Nothing of significant value other than that already secured was found.

On December 1, 1971, a fixed wing aircraft from Woodland, Washington, was aloft and covered an area during a slight period of clear weather which encompassed the area from Woodland, Washington, north to Silver Lake in Cowlitz County, a distance of 40 miles and a section 10 miles on either side of the flight path of the hijacked aircraft. While this was being conducted, Agents in ground units were conducting door to door canvass in the vicinity of the southerly end of Cowlitz County. Total area covered by air was 800 square miles with negative results.

On December 2, 1971, ten Agents walked in a defined search pattern the area in the immediate vicinity of the circle of search as set forth by Northwest Airlines. The terrain was found to be composed of fields which are being farmed and a number of impenetrable thickets which have fallen logs, hidden beaver ponds, and creeks and generally hazardous and most difficult terrain to search on foot. It was noted that in getting into the thicket and underbrush growth, it was so heavy that even if an item was five yards from the observer, it could easily be missed due to overgrowth problems. The area covered in this physical terrain search was 1 1/2 miles long and 2/3 of a mile wide and took approximately five hours. Negative results in the search.

FIRST TERRAIN SEARCH

The purpose of the first terrain search was to search for possible evidence left behind by Unsub and to find the remains of Unsub assuming he made an unsuccessful jump. The first terrain search commenced at 2:00 PM on March 21, 1972 with 218 Army troops including officers, 20 Special Agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and 9 helicopters. The area to be searched covered approximately 25 square miles.

Due to snowfall in search area on March 25, 1972, the search was temporarily held up. Army troops remained on location and the search resumed at 12:00 Noon on March 26, 1972. The search was temporarily discontinued at 12:00 Noon March 30, 1972 to allow search personnel to rest and enjoy the Easter Holiday. The Army search equipment was retained at search headquarters at Merwin Park.

The search recommended 7:15 AM, April 8, 1972, with 265 Army personnel and 20 Agents. Snow, sleet and freezing rain hampered search on April 12, 1972. Remaining areas to be searched were reached only by helicopter insertion of search personnel and landing zones in most cases were under 6 to 12 inches of snow.

The search of the entire area was completed at 1:00 PM, April 17, 1972 with nothing found.

HUNTERS SEARCH

Prior to the 1972 hunting season, the following information was made available to Washington State Game Wardens who supervise the area into which the hijacker parachuted:

"On November 24, 1971, a man parachuted into the below-described area with $200,000 in $20 bills. If, while camping or hunting, you should discover any evidence concerning this skyjacking please contact the nearest FBI office.

AREA INVOLVED

"Bound on the west by US 5, bound on the south by the Columbia River, bound on the north by the Kalama River, and bound on the east by the Skamania-Clark County line.

WHAT TO LOOK FOR:

- "1) The remains of a man, possibly dead for one year.
- 2) The remnants of a parachute, harness or parachute shroud lines.
- 3) 10,000 $20 bills wrapped in a parachute canopy, all serial numbers are known and can be identified.
 - 4) Deteriorated raincoat or overcoat.
 - 5) Small briefcase or attache case.

REWARD:

"$25,000.00 total or 15% of any lesser portion of the ransom money that is returned has been offered by Northwest Orient Airlines.

"If any information concerning this matter is discovered, it should be reported to the FBI Office at Seattle, Washington, area code 206, telephone MA. 2-0460 collect, or to the nearest FBI Office, which can be found by checking in front of your telephone directory."

The above information in the form of letters was distributed to hunters by game wardens.

The remains of JAMES ANNIS were found by hunters near Cougar, Washington on November 5, 1972. ANNIS, 16 years old in 1971, was reported missing on November 13, 1971 while hunting. He was positively identified by dental examination.

Several leads were received as the result of the publicity afforded this case by the news media and the Washington State Department of Game Wardens. These leads all received expeditious and thorough attention but all results were negative.

SECOND TERRAIN SEARCH

In attempt to determine the accuracy of the first search area, the following was learned:

The first search area was calculated using a system of plotting known as "GEOREF" (i.e. Geographical Reference) which has a plotting error of plus or minus one mile. A new plotting system using a computer generated latitude and longitude has a plotting error of plus or minus 1/2 mile. Using the new system, Northwest Orient Airlines plotted a new course for the NORJAK airplane and a new search area based on the new course. The new search area based on the new course. The new search area is partially outside the first area. (See maps.)

It is felt that if Unsub's parachute opened, he is no longer in the southwest Washington area, but if his parachute did not open he would be in a corridor along the flight path. The time of jump is known, and an area approximately one mile by seven miles represents the area Unsub would have landed in if his parachute did not open.

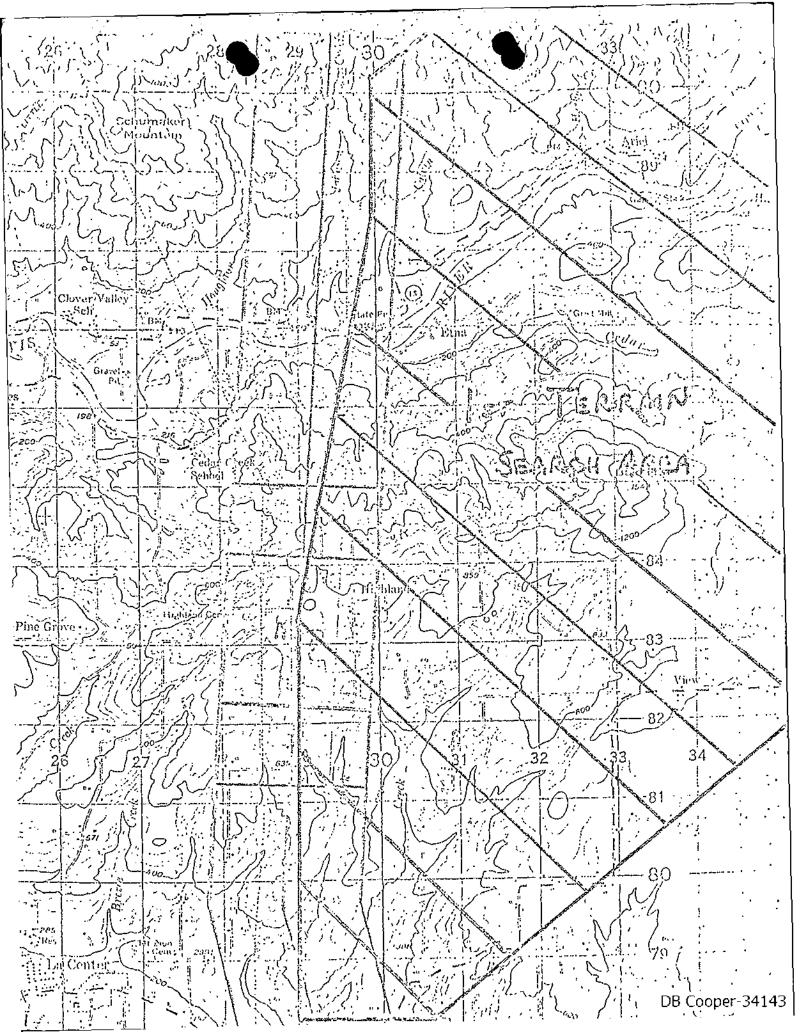

Because some of the above corridor fell in the old or first terrain search area, only an area 2 miles by 1/2 mile was searched during the second terrain search.

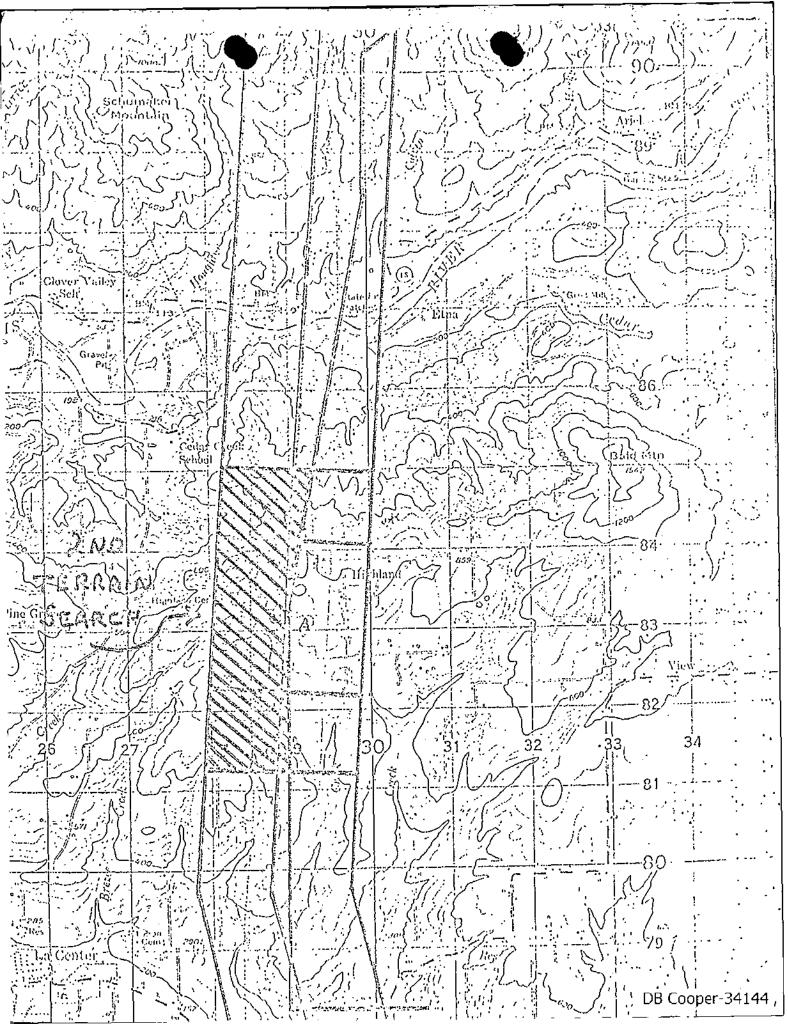

The second terrain search commenced March 12, 1973, and involved 10 Special Agents of the Seattle Office. It was temporarily interrupted on March 16 and resumed again March 26, 1973.

The second terrain search was completed March 29, 1973 with nothing found.

FAA RECORDS

The Seattle Division advised the Bureau by Nitel on June 8, 1972 of the following information concerning the Federal Aviation Administration records for licensed pilots:

In considering the feasability of checking FAA records for all licensed pilots, the Oklahoma City Office has advised that FAA Aeronautical Center maintains records of over 850,000 licensed pilots. These records are filed by name or license certificate number, but not by age. Further, they do not include photographs of each licensed pilot. The FAA at Oklahoma City advises that records are permanently maintained at FAA on those pilots whose licenses have been revoked, expired or lapsed.

test could have been the hijacker and to determine any information they might have possessed as to the identity of Unsub, all with negative rsults.

Speed - 125 knots ... Flaps - 250 down Altitude - 10,000 feet.

In Seattle report of SA CHARLES E. FARRELL, February 16, 1972, it is noted that Unsub requested the following flight configuation prior to taking off from Seattle-Tacoma Airport:

Gear down

Flaps - 150 down Altitude - 10,000 feet

Aft door open and the air stairs down.

When it was explained to the hijacker that the plane could not take off with the air stairs down, he reportedly said in a low voice, "Yes they can, but the cockpit can put it down after they get airborne."

On July 26, 1972, advised that if the hijacker was a member of, or had consulted with a member of the Boeing Test Team, he would have known that the 727 could not have taken off with the air stairs down, nor would it have be been necessary since the air stairs can easily be lowered in flight.

Stewardess remarked upon being interviewed shortly after the hijacking, that the air stairs and the controls for the air stairs were the only functions of the aircraft that the hijacker did not seem to be fully aware of.

FIRST SKYJACKING UTILIZING PARACHUTES

In an effort to determine the origin of the D.B. COOPER hijacking (i.e. the original idea behind the skyjack plan), a review was conducted of the magazine and newspaper articles written just prior to NORJAK.

The below quoted newspaper article described the first known skyjacking in which a parachute was used by the skyjacker.

The Seattle Times, November 13, 1971:

"Calgary, Alberta - (UPI) - A masked hyjacker carrying more than 40 pounds of dynamite was knocked unconscious today by an Air Canada crewman wielding a fire ax. The crewman's action 3,000 feet in the air ended a sixhour hijacking which skipped back and forth over the United States - Canadian border.

"The hijacker, reported in fair condition today with a possible skull fracture, was putting on a parachute to bail out of the DC8 over Calgary when he was struck by the ax.

"The hijacker, carrying a shotgun in-addition to the dynamite, took control last night of the Calgary to Montreal flight carrying 123 persons. Claiming to be a member of the Irish Republican Army, the men demanded $1.5 million and a free passage to Ireland. (A touring I.R.A. spokesman denied that the hijacker belonged to the I.R.A.)

"After landing in Great Falls, Montana, the man accepted $50,000 ransom. The plane took off, landed again at Great Falls, and the man let the passengers to unharmed. But, he ordered the plane with its five-member crew to take off again. Indecision on the part of the hijacker led the plane back and forth across the border before he apparently decided to jump.

	"An	Air	Canad	la o	fficial	said	that	as	the	hijacker jumped him and _____ care up behind him and 'let him ... have it with a fire ax.'

"Flight 812 made its first londing at Great Falls after the hijacker had taken over 40 miles west of Winnipeg, Manitoba. There it was refueled and the $50,000 was handed to the hijacker by a policewoman. The money was raised by bankers as the plane circled the city for two hours.

"The plane then took off for a scheduled stop in Regina, Saskatchewan, to let the 114 passengers abourd disembark. The plane did not land in Regina, however, but turned back and set down in Great Falls again where the passengers and three of the nine crew members were set free.

"On its second take-off from Great Falls, Air Canada officials said the hijacker wanted to be taken to New York City before proceeding to Ireland. The man, described as 5-feet-7, dark-haired and in his 30's then decided he wanted to go to Phoenix, Arizona, but finally settled for Calgary.

"At Great Falls Airport, Gov. FORREST ANDERSON and hundreds of onlookers stood by. ANDERSON said he came to persuade the hijacker to surrender on at least release the passengers. He never saw the hijacker, however,"

The Seattle Post Intelligencer

"Calgary, Alta. - (UPT) - A masked man armed with a sawed-off shotgun and dynamite who could not make up his mind where he anted to go was knocked out by a crew member early today to end a bizarre hijacking flight on an Air Canada DC 8.

"The hijacker was captured when a crew member struck him with a fire ax as the man was bending over to put on a parachute he was carrying, Air Canada said. A local hospital reported the hijacker suffered lacerations on his head.

"The plane - originally bound from Vancouver, B.C. to Montreal - was commandeered with 127 persons aboard.

Ъ6

"It had flown back and forth between Canada and the United States at the orders of the hijacker who at first said he wanted to go to Ireland. He claimed to belong to the Irish Republican Army (IRA).

"The passengers were released on the second of two stops the hijacked plane made at Great Falls, Mont.

"Just before landing here of the fourengine jet radiced that the hijacker was unconscious, Air Canada officials said. , however, called for bomb disposal experts to stand by.

"Right after landing in Calgary the man was whisked away by ambulance.

"Earlier the man had extracted $50,000 ransom for the release of the passengers and most of the crew during the second time it landed at Great Falls.

"The guy was wearing a mask and holding what appeared to be dynamite and a sawed-off shotgun, an Air Canada spokesmon said in Montreal.

"The hyjacker first demanded $1.5 million ransom and a flight to Ireland. After hijacking the plane following a stop here, he ordered it to Great Falls where a policewoman carried two suitcases with $50,000 to the cookpit and they were raised by a rope

"The hijacker then ordered the plane to fly to Regina, Sask., where he said the passengers would be released, but after a half hour, the plane returned to Great Falls and the passengers were released there.

"While the plane was on the ground in Great Falls, an unidentified FBI agent tried unsuccessfully to talk the hijacker into giving up. The plane took on 130,000 gallons of fuel at Great Falls for the possible flight to Ireland.

"The plane took off for a second time with the , filing a flight plan for Pholnix, But later the DC8 made a midcourse change and the plane headed for Calgary.

"Five crewmen, including a stewardess, remained" "on the plane.

"The passengers were taken by police van from the plane to the air terminal. Officers refused to lot newsmen talk with them.

"Police said the hijacker warned the passengers not to talk about what happened on the four-engine aircraft or he would kill the crew. Officers said he had a transistor radio and was listening to local newscasts while the plane was on the ground.

"One passenger, a young woman, appeared distraught and was placed in a wheelchair after she was helped out of the plane.

SR 71 PLICHT

U.S. AIR FORCE SR-71 AIRCPAFT

By communication December 3, 1971, the Sacramento Division advised that Beale Air Force-Pase, California, had offered, free of charge to the Eureau, use of an SR-71 air-craft to photograph terrain over which the hijacked airplane had flown on its trip to Reno.

This aircraft was described as an extremely sophisticated aerial reconnaissance plane which would photograph a strip 20 miles wide with photographic resolution of detecting objects on the ground 2 feet square. The film strip would then be reviewed by trained and qualified U.S. Air Force personnel.

By communication February 17, 1972 the Sacramento Division advised that photographic over-flights using SR-71 aircraft were conducted on five separate occasions with no photographs obtained due to limited visibility from very high altitude.

SR-71 Flights from Beale Air Force Rase advised each such flight requires minimum of one week advance clearance with FAA due to sonic boom problem, specialized computer programming of aircraft, filing of flight plan and compliance with FAA requirements. Accordingly, weather on flight date cannot be accurately predicted. He stated no future flights over specific area where hijacker possibly exited could be schueduled since SR-71 aircraft committed for military missions.

By communication, November 1, 1972, Seattle Division advised the Eureau and Horfolk that Unsub had in his possession, prior to the time he jumped, the following paraphernalia:

- A. Parachute Pack Pack
- B. Parachute Chest Pack
- C. Briefcase or attache case
 - D. Dark overcoat
 - E. A 4x12x14 paper bag
 - F. A pair of dark slip-on shoes
- C. Urap-around sunglasses with dark rims
- H. 10,000 $20 bills

ь6 ъ7с

Since none of the above was found when the plane was searched at Reno, Unsub must have taken them with him, or discarded some of them prior to jumping.

The above-described attache case supposedly contained a bomb. It is believed Unsub threw this attache case from the plane prior to his jumping, because of the numerous other items he had to carry. If he did throw it prior to jumping, it would fall almost directly in the path of the aircraft. The 727 air stairs were lowered sometime after 7:42 p.m. and Unsub jumped prior to 8:15 p.m. on November 24, 1971. The plane covered a distance of approximately 87 miles during this time.

The items could possibly be lodged in thickly wooded, mountainous terrain. The search area would cover a strip of land approximately 87 miles long by one-half mile wide. It has been suggested that infrared photography might possibly indicate non-living material, such as an attache case, in a darker shade than living material, thereby enabling the case to be found using infrared high resolution photography.

Since Unsub possibly discarded the attache case prior to jumping, he could not have buried or hidden it. The case would have dropped directly in the flight path of the plane and could possibly be visible from the air. The length of time Unsub would have to throw the case or any other time is limited to 33 minutes, and therefore the area covered is relatively small when compared to the entire flight path.

indiviđ u	By communication November 9, 1972, the Norfolk Division that interviews were conducted with the following als assigned to the angley Air Force Base, Virginia:	'n

It was the consensus of opinion among the three individuals above, each of whom has had considerable experience with infrared imagery, that efforts to locate the attache case by this means would probably prove futile. The terrain, as described, would neutralize any effort, particularly if tall atrees and mountains are part of its makeup. Further explained was the necessity for the presence of heat which would need to be generated by the object (attache case) in contrast to the surrounding terrain for successful infrared high resolution photography. The size of the attache case provides a poor target for any type of aerial photography, including visual photography.

All three individuals interviewed continued to express their negative feelings as to the success of either of the aerial photography procedures in this particular instance.

The Alexandria Division was requested to determine the feasibility of routing a visual aerial photography training mission over the area of interest. Alexandria advised by airtel dated February 8, 1973, that was contacted and he advised that he had made inquiry into this matter and stated that in the event Seattle wished to have military assistance in this matter then Seattle should request the Director to submit a letter of request to the Special Assistant to the Secretary of Defense, Office of the Secretary of Defense, Pentagon, Washington, D.C. In this letter the full particulars of the matter should be set forth as well as whether or not the Bureau or Department of Justice is willing to observe the additional cost if any to the Air Force. advised that he could not state positively that the request would be granted, however, advised that it was his opinion that if this were to be a reimburgable project, that it would probably receive more favorable action. However, in any event, upon receipt of the letter a conference would be held within the appropriate military organization to ascertain the feasibility of such missions and the Pureau would be properly notified.

In view of the above information no further request was made to have a visual aerial photography training mission at this time. Consideration may be given to this type of survey if new methods or monies become available.

$1,000 offered for hijacker's $20 bill

United Press International

Portland, Ore.

The Oregon Journal Thursday announced it will give a $1,000 reward for the first $20 bill recovered from the loot collected two years ago by D. B. Cooper, the still missing parachuting airplane hijacker.

The Journal said it was making the offer in accordance with an FBI statement that obtaining any of the $200,000 cxtorted from Northwest Airlines would aid its investigation.

A passenger listed as Dan-Cooper boarded a North-west Boeing 727 jetliner here Thanksgiving eve 1971, hijacked the craft, forcing Northwest to give him the $200,000 in $20 bills at Seattle, then ordered the plane crew to: fly to Reno, Nev.

When the plane landed at Reno, Cooper, later la-belled D. B. Cooper, was not aboard. The flight , crew and FBI believe he parachuted from the plane over southwestern Washington.

No trace of either Cooper or the money has been found and officers admit they are baffled. Many believe he was killed when. he parachuted.

Donald W. Nyrop, President. Northwest Orient Airlines. Dear Sir:

Whether you believe the following information, and how I came to obtain it is a matter for you to decide. By rejecting the information, you are still minus $250,000 and a maniac that has motivated hijacking and mass murdering aboard Airlines.

I am in no way affiliated with EVIL, or the hijacker "D.B. Copper." I am a man of God, and when the times comes, you will know just how close I am walkingxwikknowsky walking with God. For the time being, we will let it stand, and get to the point.

"D.B. Cooper" ordered the aircraft to circle SEA-TAC airport, as you well know. You also know, although it is not general public information, that a tape recorder had been found that had been issuing orders to the pilot long after "Cooper" jumped. What you do not know, (but God knows) is WHERE he jumped, and the disposition of the money. His letter to you sometime ago was a payeralizat psychological blunder, pointing out the fact that he lost the money bag after jumping from the aircraft, due to the force of the wind ripping it out of his hand. Before I reveal the locality of the ransom money, (and I can pinpoint the sp ot where you can recover it!) let me fill you in as to "Cooper's" MYWYWY plan of operation. In the first place, he had an accomplice, whom I will reveal a little later. "Cooper" as you have suspected, is a "fire jumper" for the National Forest Service. The very name "D.B. Cooper" means, D ouble Back (to) C ooper (Lake)!")

When the aircraft circled around above Sea-Tac Airport, "Cooper" bailed out, leaving the recorder running with directions, etc. He planned the jump so that the wind was coming from the Southwest at a certain tate of speed, and would blow him toward the North-northesa east! His plan was to land in Cooper Lake, not far from Salmon La Sac, a public camping area. He miscalculated the wind and drift, and landed instead in LAKE KACHESS!

I have shared this information with the F.B.I. and also the Secret Service. Both have stupidly ignored me, although it is the duty of the same to check all possible amgkes, wouldn't you think? The Secret Service is so secret, I wonder if they know what is real? But that is beside the point. It is just exasperation upon my part, so forgive me my ravings, will you?

Now to the meat of the subject, as I told the above "security" organizations: I know the exact whereabouts of "D.B. Cooper" and his accomplice, and also the EXACT SPOT that holds the money hidden from the human eye. I will go a little further and say that Cooper, who is about 35 years of age, and slighty, or a little more so, boxad bald, is enjoying the holidays at his leisure with his accomplice, a very attractive ted-headed woman of about the same age that has a miniature sized dog as a pet. (A check of the passenger list at the time of the hijack, and the memory of one of the stewardesses will reveal this to you.) First things first!

You will find the two depraved and mad outlaws about four and one half miles in on a dirt road on the east side of lake Kachess, which is, by the way, a dead end road. When you have captured them, and as God, even Jehovah the Father, is my witness, you WILL capture them, and the maximum penalty of DEATH is too good for them, you will then contact me at the above address, and I will lead you to the ransom money. I have tried several times to recover it, but I now know why I have been unable to. "Cooper" left the very unstable plastic explosives in the bag with the money, and only a qualifited disposal man should handle it, when the bag is recovered. The bag is slightly torn and a few bills are missing, but "Ya can't win 'em all!"

I am mailing a copy of this letter to a friend of mine, the Sattle Post*Intelligencer, knowing that he is an honest man, and that he will not foolishly back reveal this information for the same reason you won't. Skepticism, until proof positive has been received. You have your information, and the rest is between you and God (if you believe God), or between you and the Devil, (because he would have you disbelieve so that the murder and abomin ations that are continuing to happen because of the desperado fame of this man has gone unchecked) 」 and when them events name, by the way, have taken place, he is to have soul rights to the information and "Scoop." this is the will of my Heavenly Father. It is also Jehovah's will that I receive the reward for Cooper, and also for the ransom money, the total of which, as I believe, is $50,000. Along with that, out of the kindness of your heart, you will present me, as a messenger of God, with two honorary lifeOtime timkets to all parts of the world on your airlines, and honoured by other airlines. This is not very much to ask, for I will not use them for my own pleasure, but to spread the good news of God Bless you and good hunting; b6 our Lord Jesus Christ, and the name of our Father, JEHOVAH.

The Cricket's 'D.B. Cooper' is leap into rare experience

"The D.B. Cooper Project," in its premiere production at the Cricket Theatre, is a work of unique dramatic imagination that boggles! most conventional assessments.

Even when John Orlock's "musical fantasy" goes amiss, it still con-tinues to add up small points toward an impressive theatrical and emotional totality.

The very concept is enough to make most of us shake our prosaic heads. Many playwrights could come up with some grabby story ideas about D.B. Cooper, the pseudonym for the 1971 hijacker who parachuted from an airliner over Washington state and disappeared into legend with $200,000 in as yet unrecovered ransom money.

But a drama that deals only with his pre-heist humdrum? A life so mud-fence, all-American unre-markable? Wholly without any large gestures or commanding characters? And interspersed with poignant or funny little songs?

I can only ask you to accept on faith that Orlock's off-beat idea somehow works: It is grabby precisely because it does not try to grab, or pander to our dramatic expectations. Wisely keeping it small, almost the seed of an idea, the author has created something able to grow and spread in any direction our own imaginations are able to follow.

Orlock took his text from a letter signed "D.B. Cooper" that was sent to several newspapers a month after the crime. The writer (whoever he was) denied being a professional criminal ("I never" even got a parking ticket") but said: "I am no modern day Robin Hood," and added, "Unfortunately, I do have only 14 months to live."

The letter speaks of a life that had been filled with "agony, turmoil, hate and more hate" and explains that the extorted money

"was to gain a few fast grains of peace of mind.'

It is the person who would have written such a letter that fascinates Orlock. Happily, he was not influenced by the sensational mythologizing of the crime in constructing his imagined character. His chief interest centers on what, in terms of ordinary American life,. some average man would regard as "agony, turmoil and hate," what he might consider "peace of mind" in facing an early death, even what image of a "Robin Hood" he felt honor-bound to reject.

So, we start with the drably mundane figure of Aaron Tarkus, who runs a failing gas station in Camden, N.J., is unhapply and childlessly married to someone from high school and has no emotional, social or intellectual life outside weekend TV football with two nonentity buddies.

Orlock's amusing and original em" was a hit last season at the Cricket, but this new play, by triumphing over its very imperfections, reveals a growing depth, sensitivity and awareness that true drama is created inside characters and to the degree that they are given functional human reality and dimensions.

It is these qualities that confer interest and a strangely urgent significance on the unpromising Aaron Tarkus and his dreary associ-ations—not as some latent superman but as a Joe Doakes whose hurts and hopes are as important to him as those of any towering dramatic characters.

In the amazing hands of Don Amendolia, Aaron almost imperceptibly emerges from a negligible jerk (a whining commentary on the frauds and baubles of the American Dream) into something like epic pathos. He acquires odd stature, however misguided, in his "Indulgences in the Louisville Har-, determination finally to do at least, one thing right-even if it is too late and even if it is wrong. In the process, in extremity, we see the unrecognized (or defeated) better feelings and possibilities that had lain sadly fallow in him all along.

This sounds very heavy, but Orlock and the Cricket crew drop it on us only after laying a deceptive groundwork, part frisky inconsequence and part commonplace human troubles.

Fred Thompson is Aaron's business partner and original "brains" of the hijack scheme to break them out of their circular hopelessness. Clive Rosengren is the other loudmouthed boob, equally unlikely for such high enterprise.

Mildly surreal staging devices establish the fantasy tone: All the props (beer cans, eating utensils, "things") are twice life-size; the people wear ghastly bargain-basement garments in clashing colors and patterns; revolving backdrop panels inject them into changing :

times and places.

I found the music only sporadideally effective. "Betty's Waltz," sung by Jane Murray, broke my heart as Aaron's wife mourned 'cism?), most were played in the dead love over a box of face powder-the long-ago last gift he had given her-"bought on sale." "This 1 and words often unintelligible. Is My Sister" is delightful comic patter, the roommate complaints of sexy Camille Gifford and "plain-Jane" Dolores Noah-unwittingly involved with the hijack plotters.

Too many of the numbers, however, seemed irrelevant padding, and not interesting enough as separate songs. Perhaps intentionally (to avoid slick "musical" lyriwrong key for individual singers, making the voices unmelodious

But, a gritty truth and deeply moving humanity cut through both the usefully distancing whimsy and the unneeded artifice to make "D.B. Cooper" a rare theater experience.

Northwest 727 hijacker Cooper made a quantum leap into mists of mythology

By John Kerans

You can't tell a book by its cover. Nor a crook by the crime he's committed. But if you can't read the book, or you can't find the crookthen surely some speculation's permitted.

Take the case of D. B. Cooper, who 71/2 years ago used a bomb threat to take command of a 727 jet, then parachuted to freedom with $200,000 extorted from Northwest Airlines. No trace of Cooper was ever found. And since it's the only such unsolved crime in American history, you could say Cooper wrote the book on skyjacking. But he took the book; along the night he made his quantum Jeap. And that's where the speculation begins . . .

The playwright:

John Orlock began to wonder about D. B. Cooper a few weeks after the crime was committed. Orlock found a letter purportedly from Cooper re-printed in the New York Times and he clipped it out. Orlock still has that 🖔 clipping, though it's yellowed with

(In the letter, "Cooper" said in part that he had only 14 months to live ! and that "I knew from the start that I wouldn't be caught.")

"I read it and got the feeling of a man who finally decided to do something with his life. There was a great ? sadness and a great courage here," says Orlock, his fingertips touching the clipping.

"If this was indeed the case, that he was dying-and I am sure that he is now dead-then there was a certain justice here. It was a haunting piece of writing. Most importantly, I could feel a 'personality' emerging.'

More than a personality emerged. So did a play, "The D. B. Cooper Project," which opens Friday night at athe Cricket Theater. Orlock cautions that the play is not simply about sky-jacking. "I just tried to write good characters. The skyjacking is just a hook. It's not about that. It's about people and how they respond under t certain circumstances."

The circumstances here are those of failure. "Cooper is a man for whom nothing has ever gone right. His marriage went down the drain. His gas station folded. He's been passed over by the American dream. He's not a folk hero. He's a negative personality. But he has a transformation. He becomes D. B. Cooper."

But what if the letter was a fake? What if John Orlock was inspired by the contrivance of a prankster?

"No!" says Orlock firmly, "There is a feeling here that is right for me. The flow in the letter is thought-bythought. It COULD have been a fake. But as a playwright, I would have had a hard time writing a better letter than this."

The article about the letter was published six days before Christmas. And it ran a little short. So somebody at the New York Times stuck in a holiday slogan to bring that column of the newspaper to its proper length.

It reads, "Remember the neediest." Right there on John Orlock's clipping.

The reporter:

Leverett Richards thinks the D. B. Cooper letter was a fake.

"It just didn't seem to jive with the: facts in the case," Richards explains.

Richards certainly has the facts. They fill one full drawer of his desk in the newsroom at the Portland Oregonian. He's been following the case since the night it happened.

"Besides, Cooper couldn't have survived. It quickly became evident to me that he landed in Lake Merwin. I That's up in Washington state, about The son is named Durkee B. Rich-35 miles north of Portland, where the FBI figured he made the jump. It's my bet that Cooper's body is still down there.

"I'm a pilot. And I've talked to pilots who were flying that night. There was terrific turbulence. Cooper couldn't have picked a worse night.

"If this fellow Cooper could organize a letter, he would have organized the skylacking too and he didn't. Everybody I've talked to-pilots and parachutists-they all feel his chances for survival were pretty grim."

But Richards will concede one thing. It's a hell of a mystery. Last January, somebody found a plastic placard from the rear stairs of a 727 jet in the suspected drop area. But aside from that, there have been no other

And what about Cooper's character? "He was a born loser," Richards snaps. He had no upbringing. That's 1 no way to do things. I don't have much patience with those who think they can get rich at the expense of others.

"But you asked me about his character. Well, he was from a broken home or he had no family. Because no one has ever been reported missing that matches his description.

"Obviously, he has no military experience as a parachutist or a pilot. Otherwise," Richards rasps in disbelief, "he would have known you couldn't bail out there. It's rough country. It was overcast. And I don't see how he could have known the elevation."

Leverett Richards won't be coming to see "The D. B. Cooper Project." He can't get away from work. But his son-a research scientist at the 3M Company in St. Paul-has promised his father he'll see the show and re-1 port back.

ards. Abbreviated, or course, that's "D, B, . . . '

'The storekeeper:

Just as firmly as Leverett Richards talks about D. B. Cooper in the past, then storekeeper Germaine Tricola describes him in the present.

"Of course, he's alive!" she says with a smile. "Cause nothing's ever been found. We've lost folks before, but we've always found the remains."

Until recently, Tricola ran the Ariel Store & Tavern. It's tucked into the foothills of Washington's Cascade Mountains, at a point directly below which Cooper is calculated to have hit the silk. Up the road lies Lake Merwin.

"Fell into the lake? He couldn't have. With the drought we had two years ago, something would have shown up. Body, parachute, money! bag-something. You could even see the tree stumps then."

For several years, Tricola-who moved to Washington from Hugo, Minn., 30 years ago--has staged a D. B. Cooper party on Thanksgiving. The party has drawn guests from as far away as Toronto and as near as the local FBI office in Portland, Tricola just sold the store, but the new owners plan to continue the tradi-

The Ariel Store & Tavern caters to the logging crowd. Rough men doing rough work, clearing away tall pines, fir and cedars clustered together so thick that the sunlight has a hard time getting through.

(A man on a parachute might have a hard time getting through, too. But there are plenty of "clear cuts" where the logging companies have toppled the timbers and taken them out on trucks.)

"We've had jumpers land right next to the store. Last year, a professional parachutist from Portland and two of his students came right down. I think that's what Cooper did.

"He was a man who liked a challenge. A loner. I don't think he needed the money. Maybe he didn't have anything to do on Thanksgiving."

If this is where D. B. Cooper landed with the $200,000 ransom, then he fell in with good company. A long time ago, before reforestation programs, the loggers had a slogan.

Simply put, it read: "Get yours and get out."

The psychiatrist:

David Hubbard cursed the idea of a musical about D. B. Cooper when he learned of it.

"I'm of the opinion that this type of thing doesn't need to be perpetuated. Cooper represented no ideals and no values. He's not a folk hero. He was a man acting selfishly. The number of people who can be harmed by men who think they'll be immortalized is innumerable."

In 1971, Hubbard wrote a book called "The Skyjacker." It's the only psychiatric study of the "skyjacking personality," and it's based on dozens of interviews with men who committed the crime.

Hubbard's premise is that we are bound together by twofold gravity. One part is physical—which holds us to earth. Another is emotional—which holds us to each other. Skyjacking, he concludes, is a defiance of both realities.

Hubbard also believes in "mutations." One man commits the crime; another emulates it. Cooper—he points out—was not the first to get together parachutes, bombs and disguises. A Canadian tried the same trick in Calgary three weeks before. Hubbard assumes Cooper read about it and tried to go the Canadian one better. He did—the Canadian was caught and Cooper was not.

"Cooper created nothing," says Hubbard. "He was an imitative creature like all the rest who followed."

There certainly were plenty to follow—though none succeeded. Eventually, the back stairs on 727 jets were modified to lock in flight. And that was the end of that.

"I took the notorious and made it commonplace," says Hubbard. "You want to take the commonplace—and D. B. Cooper was commonplace—and make it notorious. I don't buy that."

Psychiatrist David Hubbard does all his work at the Aberrant Behavior Center in Dallas. He lives nearby. Back in 1971, Hubbard—like Cooper—received $200,000.

But Hubbard's money came from a private benefactor. It was given to finance a study on skyjacking.

Legend of a hijacker comes to Cricket Theater

By Mike Steele Staff Writer

On Thanksgiving Eve 1971, a mild-mannered man using the name D.B. Cooper hijacked a Northwest Airlines 727 and, somewhere south of Seattle, parachuted out clutching $200,000 in $20 bills. He hasn't been seen since.

It was a great mystery and Cooper became something of a folk hero. Songs were written about his dazzling escapade and D.B. Cooper took his place alongside Robin Hood, Uean Lafitte and all three musketeers.

Almost overlooked during the episode, however, was a letter received by several newspapers a month after the hijacking. It was written by a man who, claimed to be Cooper. The letter said, "I am no modern day Robin Hood. Unfortunately I do have only 14 months to live." He took the money, he wrote, "to gain a few fast grains of peace of mind."

One who didn't overlook the letter was playwright John Orlock. "I was fascinated by that letter," explained the 33-year-old writer, "especially a part where he wrote about living a life of agony, turmoil, hate and more hate. It was a beautiful piece of writing, straightforward and simple, the kind of letter a D.B. Cooper would have written. Let's face it, the hijacking was one of the great acts of imagination of our time, the idea of taking the money and leaving the airplane up there.

"I clipped that letter and put it in my files for a few years. I was thinking about it during that time, however, and it kept coming out in my mind as a musical, a small cabaret musical. Then five years ago we performed a rough draft of it in a workshop at Penn State where I was teaching. It only had five songs and only two or three of those original scenes remain today."

But he has worked and reworked it since, and last year "The D.B. Cooper Project" was done in a reading during the Cricket Theater's lateringht works-in-progress series. It worked well enough that the Cricket is presenting it on its main stage beginning Friday through May 5, under Lou Salerni's direction.

The play, like most of Orlock's to date, will be a comic drama. It won't be the big, metaphorical statement he'll be after but, as he put it, "just people in a situation, a look at what happens when interesting characters are placed in a situation that will knock them around. I never start a play saying, 'I want to say this.' It's deadly. What really makes me cringe is when a playwright uses the title of the play as a metaphor in the play, you know, here comes the Streetcar Named Desire. I look for character and let metaphors find themselves through them."

Orlock's characters tend to be based on historical fact, then shot through' with the writer's imagination. His "Indulgences in the Louisville Harem," one of last year's hits at the Cricket, featured a mesmerist from the International Institute of Science and Populism. The mesmerist, it turned out, was mute and had to be accompanied by a friend who said all his words for him though the ideas behind the words, we were assured, were the mesmerist's.

John Orlock

He has also written plays about a man who played the organ in a Boston subway station and about the Golden Girl, the first female baton twirler to march with a college marching band. His latest play, recently given in the Cricket's works-in-progress series, "Revolution of the Heavenly Orbs," is about a 12th-century French cathedral builder.

If there's one thing that typifies Orlock's plays to date it is the way he begins with logical, historical situations and lets those situations zoom through logic right off the wall, often into surprisingly tender emotions.

"The humor is so important," said Orlock, "in terms of holding an audience. If you can make them laugh they'll follow you anywhere, right through logic into areas you could never get them to follow you normally. You simply can't bore an audience and move them too. I'm learning that more and more, how to hold an audience and how I can turn that back in on itself or into a different level."

He pulls his comedy from many styles. "I've been watching Abbott and Costello lately," he said. "It's just absolutely primal, basic material, beautifully built. The 'Who's on First?' sketch is to comedy what Bach is to music. I also watch old television series, like Sgt. Bilko. It was well written formally and just needs a content injection. And I love Moliere.

"What I'm after is situational comedy, the kind that builds from characters to the point where the audience finally says 'Oh, no, he isn't really going to do that!' It takes a bit more time to build those situations as opposed to just joke humor, but it's so much richer."

Orlock also wrote the 11 songs in this, his first musical. In fact, in the best tradition of musical theater, he had just completed the final one a tweek or so before opening.

"I have a background in piano," he said, "but I haven't composed much. I did do some small film scores and some commercial work, but not much. The one song last year in 'Louisville Harem' was my first theater song. I don't think I can really describe my style. I look for theater music, songs that are scenes in themselves. I like a lot of early Kurt Weill music but I'm still exploring. This piece is scored for two pianos, harp and either percussion or strings. Not sure yet. I had a tuba in there first, but when the harp came in, I dropped it. The harp was an amazing instrument, perfect, ethereal flying music."

Orlock is a native of Philadelphia and has taught at both Penn State and Boston University. He set out to become an actor and director but about nine years ago took a playwriting course that showed him to be a writer of some skill. He soon won a Shubert Playwriting award to study at Penn State, where he wrote his first full-length play.

"I felt the great satisfaction of hearing an audience respond," he said, "and found out how nice that could be. I wrote only off and on for a while but I was getting more and more reinforcement and finally in late 1973, when I began 'D.B. Cooper,' I made the commitment to playwriting.

He came to Minneapolis in 1975 because he was tired of teaching and had heard the theater scene was promising. He and his wife loaded up a U-Haul and breezed into Minneapolis on Labor Day. He spent the first year selling calculators at Dayton's by day, teaching theater at the Guild of Performing Arts at night. He wrote and directed a few shows there and finally, a year ago, was named a playwright-in-residence at the Playwrights' Lab.

"It is a very, very useful program," he said. "I'm still involved with it. It's an opportunity to take good actors and a director and say, 'All right, I'd like to present this work.' And then work on it and see how it plays. Out of the Lab work I can hear the piece, rewrite it and work it out. I still like to work this way. The Cricket's works-in-progress series has worked out the same way. It's a very nice way to bring a play along."

Starting next fall, Orlock will become the Cricket's literary manager in charge of reading new scripts, helping with play selection and, of course, writing.

"Above all," he said, "it will be a steady salary. I'll phase out most of my teaching and be able to concentrate on professional theater. In fact, until they asked me to take that position I had seriously thought about going back to college teaching, just to put bread on the table. I wasn't too, happy with those prospects. Believe me, it feels much better to be in the theater."

The FBI says it has ruled out any connection between a partly buried parachute found in a wooded area of southwest Washington and the 8-year-old disappearance of skyjacker D.B. Cooper. The parachute was found by a logger and turned over to officials Monday, after a friend told the logger the chute may be a clue to the nation's only unsolved skyjacking. Case of D.B. Cooper continues: Part of loot found near Portland

Associated Press

Portland, Ore. Part of the $200,000 given to legendary airplane hijacker D.B. Cooper has been found, the FBI said Tues-

Packets of badly deteriorated $20 bills were shown at a press conference yesterday.

But agents said they found no trace of Cooper, who parachuted from a Northwest Airlines jet more than eight years ago.

The money was found Sunday by a family preparing to build a picnic fire along the Columbia River, 5 miles northwest of the Interstate Hwy. 5 bridge linking Vancouver, Wash., and Portland.

"This clue is the first we've had since the night of the occurrence," said Bill Baker, assistant special agent-in-charge of the Portland FBI office: He said wads of the money, bound by rubber bands, were found by Harold and Patricia Ingram and their 8-year-old son, Brian.

Ingram said the money was found about 20 yards from the river's edge under a thin layer of sand, "My son ran up and said, Wait a minute, Dadoy," Ingram said. "He raked a place out in the sand and there it was. There were three bundles" of money.

Baker said officials estimated that there were several thousand dollars in the wads but that it was impossible to make an accurate count because of the deterioration of the bills.

Ralph Himmelsbach, agent-in-charge of the Cooper case, has speculated that Cooper died after he parachuted from the plane over a densely wooded area along the river.

"I think we can only presume at this time that because the money was found clumped together tightly, in what we believe was the manner in which it was originally packed, lends credence to the theory that at least the money did not make it out" of the area where Cooper was believed to have dropped, he said.

"And from there, I would really leave it to conjecture," he added.

(An FBI spokesman in Washington said the money was found 20 miles downstream from the point where Cooper is believed to have bailed out. He added that, because of floods along the river, it was likely that in nine years the money had been carried some distance.)

Serial numbers of the money were recorded before being given to the hijacker on Nov. 24, 1971.

The man known as D.B. Cooper boarded the jet in Portland, then displayed what a flight attendant said looked like dynamite. He demanded four parachutes and $200,000 in $20 bills. He ordered the pilot to fly to Seattle, where the plane circled for 21/2 hours while authorities gathered the parachutes and money.

At Seattle, the passengers and two of the three stewardesses were allowed to leave the plane. The money and parachutes were loaded and the plane took off for Reno, Nev. The pilot was ordered to fly as slowly as possible.

Somewhere over southwest Washington, the hijacker opened the rear door of the plane, and he, the money and one of the parachutes disappeared into thin air.

Officials say it is the only unsolved hijacking in the country. In 1977, just to make sure Cooper didn't escape prosecution because of the statute of limitations, he was indicted in absentia on federal charges.

Cooper has become somewhat of a folk hero. T-shirts ask: "D.B. Cooper, Where Are You?," at least one song has been written about him, and residents of Ariel, Wash., near where Cooper was thought to have leaped from the plane, have commemorated the hijacking with an annual, "D.B. Cooper Day."

Skyjacking loot bagged

VANCOUVER, Wash. — Anyone who wants to take a chance on finding some of the loot from the nation's only unsolved skyjacking should look somwhere other than the banks of the Columbia River, FBI agents say.

Agents expected to halt today the search for more of the ransom that had until this week been missing since D.B. Cooper parachuted from a jet with $200,000 strapped to his waist nine years ago. Ken Moore, the Seattle agent in charge of the digging, said the money probably was washed downstream into the Columbia, most likely from the Washougal River. No trace of Cooper, the first person to hijack an airliner for money, has been found.

FBI finds more Cooper hijack money scraps

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) -As hordes of reporters and a herd of cows looked on, scientists " and FBI agents sifted through sand along the Columbia River, searching for more of the loot ! that had been missing since sky pirate D.B. Cooper parachuted from a plane nine years ago.

Agents trenching the riverbank Wednesday found a few more scraps of the $200,000 ransom but no sign of the first man to hijack an airliner for money.

And the FBI agent who led the investigation since the 1971 hijack says the discovery tends to confirm his speculation that Cooper, who has become something of a folk hero, died the night he parachuted into a storm somewhere over southwestern Washington.

SOGGY AND battered fragments of several thousand dollars in $20 bills were discovered Sunday by an 8-year-old boy during a family picnic. Serial numbers confirmed they were part of the ransom.

FBI agent Paul Hudson said he ruled out the possibility that the money was buried along the river near Vancouver.

"However they got there, they must have been deposited within a couple of years after the hijacking," said agent Ralph Himmelsbach, due to retire in two weeks after heading the Cooper investigation since the hijack. "Rubber bands deteriorate rapidly and could not have held the bundles together very long."

The Corps of Engineers identified a layer of sand as having been deposited when the 40-foot ship channel was dredged in August 1974. Agents speculated Cooper's body would have clogged the dredge if it had been in the channel then, but a sachel could have gone through.

AGENTS ALSO speculated the bills could have washed into the Columbia from a tributary in the area near LaCenter, Wash., into which Cooper-apparently parachuted.

Officials roped off the riverbank to keep would-be treasure seekers from the area as they dug for more of the ransom. The only spectators allowed in Wednesday were reporters, three fishermen and dairy cows.

"I'll admit to a certain sense of satisfaction," said Himmelsbach. "The case isn't solved, but this is certainly a major milestone.

"So we know at least that he l never spent this money, and we know that none of the money he was given has ever turned up in circulation," he said. "So, if he got away with it, why hasn't he spent any of this money?"

He said Cooper's skelton probably never will be found if it is in the forested, mountain area in which he is supposed to have landed.

"Unlike the money, Cooper is biodegradable," he said.

FBI counts D.B. Cooper greenbacks

The crumbling remains of $20 bills unearthed on the bank of the Columbia River in Washington State by a Vancouver family more than two weeks ago represent about $5,800 of the $200,000 taken by skyjacker D.B. Cooper in 1971, the FBI says.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Twelve weathered stacks of $20 bills — part of the $200,000 given to legendary airline hijacker "D. B. Cooper" before he parachuted from an airliner more than eight years ago — were produced Tuesday by the FBI.

But agents said they still have no trace of

"This clue is the first we've had since the night of the occurrence," said Bill Baker, assistant special agent, in charge of the Portland FBI office.

He said wads of the money, bound by rubber bands, were found Sunday while Harold Ingram, his wife, Patricia, and their 8-year-old son, Brian, were preparing to build a picnic fire along the Columbia River, five miles northwest of the Interstate 5 bridge linking Portland and Vancouver, Wash., where the Ingrams live.

Ingram said at a press conference here that the money was found about 20 yards from the river's edge under a thin layer of sand.

"MY SON ran up and said, 'Wait a minute, Daddy,' Ingram said. "He raked a place out in the sand and there it was. There were three bundles" of money.

Baker said officials estimated there were several thousand dollars in the wads, but it was impossible to make an accurate estimate because

Ralph Himmelsbach, agent in charge of the Cooper case since it happened, has speculated that Cooper died after he parachuted from the Northwest Airlines plane over a densely wooded area along the river.

ANNOUNCEMENT of the discovery was made simultaneously in Portland, Seattle and Washington, D.C.

Serial numbers of the money were recorded before being given to the hijacker on the evening before Thanksgiving in 1971.

The hijacker boarded the jet in Portland, then displayed what a flight attendant said looked like dynamite. He demanded four parachutes and $200,000 in $20 bills.

He ordered the pilot to fly to Seattle where the plane circled for 21/2 hours while authorities gathered the parachutes and

AT SEATTLE, the passengers and two of the three stewardesses were allowed to leave the plane. The money and parachutes were loaded and the plane took off for Reno, Nev.

The pilot was ordered to fly as slowly as possible.

Somewhere over southwest Washington, the hijacker, the money and one of the parachutes disappeared out of the plane's rear exit. The door was opened, in flight.

In 1977, just to make sure the hijacker didn't escape prosecution via the statute of limitations, he was indicted on federal charges in absentia.

Cooper has become somewhat of a folk hero. T-shirts have been printed bearing the question: "D.B. Cooper, Where Are You?."

Portion of D.B. Cooper loot found by picnicker

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — An 8-year-old boy has uncovered part of a ransom missing since the only unsolved skyjacking in U.S. history — but officials say the whereabouts of the legendary sky pirate D.B. Cooper are still a matter of conjecture.

The three bundles of weathered $20 bills found along the Columbia River are the first evidence uncovered since Thanksgiving eve, 1971, when Cooper bailed out of a jet over southwestern Washington with $200,000 tied to his waist.

It was the first case of a skyjacking for money.

The FBI on Tuesday identified the cash through serial numbers. Bill Baker, special agent in charge of the Portland FBI office, said the money was so decomposed it was impossible to determine how much was there, but he said it came to "several thousand dollars."

"I THINK we can only presume at this time that because the money was found clumped together tightly in what we believe was the manner in which it was originally packed, it lends credence to the theory that at least the money did not make it out." he said. "And from there, I would really leave it to conjecture."

Baker said agents would now renew their search. "Of course, we will generate increased interest now in trying to locate D.B. Cooper or any remains that might be in the area," he said.

Late Tuesday afternoon, agents sifted through sand at the spot where the money was found and discovered several more pieces of $20 bills. The area has been sealed off to the public and the search was to resume today.

The money was discovered Sunday by young Brian Ingram beneath a layer of sand as his family picnicked along the Columbia, five miles northwest of Vancouver, Wash.

HAROLD INGRAM, of Vancouver, told reporters Tuesday he was preparing a fire when his son "ran up and said 'Wait a minute, Daddy.' He raked a place out in the sand and there it was."

Ingram said he didn't give any thought to spending the money.

"It didn't look like I could spend it so I really didn't think about that," he said.

He also said he didn't think about the cash being part of the Cooper loot. But he called the FBI because "I figured if anybody knew what to do it would be them."

Baker said he presumed the money washed downstream, possibly from a Columbia River tributary in the rugged southwestern Washington mountains, where Cooper is believed to have bailed out.

FBI AGENT Ralph Himmelsbach, due to retire in 17 days after being in charge of the Cooper investigation since the skyjacking, said he still believes there is less than a 50-50 chance Cooper survived.

One theory had Cooper falling to his death in Lake Merwin on the Lewis River near Ariel, Wash. But the Lewis River enters the Columbia downstream from where the money was found.

The nine-year-old mystery hegan Nov. 24, 1971, when a man calling himself Dan Cooper purchased a one-way ticket and boarded the Northwest Orient Airlines jet at Portland International Airport.

After takeoff, Cooper displayed what an attendant said looked like dynamite. Ordering the pilot to head for Seattle, Cooper demanded four parachutes and $200,000 from the airline.

In Seattle, passengers and two of three attendants were allowed to leave the plane. The money and parachutes were loaded, the plane took off for Reno and somewhere, Cooper jumped out. (Mount Clipping in Space Below)

FBI digs for more D.B. Cooper loot

FBI agents used sifting screens and a backhoe Wednesday in a $200,000 treasure hunt along the Columbia River. They were seeking more of D.B. Cooper's loot and and perhaps the remains of the mysterious hijacker.

The agents tore up the beach where an 8-year-old boy found several thousand dollars in crumbling $20 bills over the weekend. The FBI identified the cash by serial numbers.

Would-be treasure seekers were barred from the area by a sheriff's deputy and a locked gate. The only spectators were three local fishermen and reporters.

The mystery of what happened to the man who hijacked a Northwest Airlines 727 jet on Thanksgiving eve 1971 appeared little closer to solution.

"In my own mind, I can rule out the possibility that it (the money) was buried here," said agent Paul Hudson, coordinator of the digging efforts.

FBI spokesman Bill Williams said that the beach where the money was found "is material that was dredged from the middle of the channel in August 1974. But the dredge will not accept anything as large as a body. A small satchel could go through."

He added that "we simply don't know the significance of that information."

The spot, about 5 miles northwest of Vancouver, Wash., is several miles downstream from the jet's path on its way to Reno, Nev. The flight originated in Portland, Ore. Once the jet was airborne, the hijacker, who signed on the flight as Dan Cooper, displayed what appeared to be a bomb and demanded the money and four parachutes. Somewhere over southwest Washington, the man who has come to be known as D.B. Cooper disappeared out the back entrance with the money and a parachute.

Cooper caper still baffles FBI

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — FBI agents armed with sifting screens and accompanied by a backhoe conducted a $200,000 treasure hunt along the Columbia River on Wednesday, seeking more of a mysterious hijacker's loot and maybe the remains of D.B. Cooper himself.

The agents tore up the sandy beach where an 8-year-old boy found several thousand dollars in crumbling $20 bills over the weekend. The FBI identified the cash through serial numbers.

A GAPING PIT, about 20 yards from the water's edge, showed the spot where Brian Ingram found the three packages of bills on Sunday. On Tuesday, agents digging as deep as 3 feet came up with more bits and pieces of $20 bills from the spot that is sometimes under water as the river level fluctuates.

Any would-be treasure seekers were barred from the area by a sheriff's deputy and a locked gate. The only spectators were three local fishermen, a crowd of reporters and a herd of dairy cattle that munched away in a pen about a hundred yards from the digging.

The mystery of what happened to the man who hijacked a Northwest Airlines 727 jetliner on Thanksgiving Eve 1971 appeared little closer to solution.

FBI agents search near Portland, Ore., for money taken by D.B. Cooper in a 1971 hijacking.

"It does probably raise as many questions as answers — perhaps more," said agent Paul Hudson, coordinator of the digging efforts. "In my own mind, I can rule out the possibility that it was buried here."

BUT HOW DID the money come to be unearthed on the sandy shore where hundreds of persons come to fish during the breeding runs of salmon and steelhead?

"That beach is material that was dredged from the middle of the channel in August 1974," said FBI spokesman Bill Williams in Portland. "But the dredge will not accept anything as large as a body. A small satchel could go through."

But he said the money could have been swept down river after the dredging.

"We simply don't know the significance of that information," he said.
